The Nimitz Library, completed in 1973, is named in honor of Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, USN (1885-1966). A 1905 graduate of the United States Naval Academy, Admiral Nimitz served as Commander-in-Chief, Pacific, during World War II.

The Nimitz Library offers comprehensive library services to midshipmen and faculty. Service is also provided to USNA military and civilian staff, to personnel attached to the other activities of the Annapolis Area Naval Complex, and to local retired faculty members and retired military personnel. Other residents of the Annapolis community and authorized researchers may make use of the Library's resources under specific circumstances.

Division of Engineering & Weapons

"Damn the torpedoes, Full speed ahead!"

--Admiral Farragut

CAPT DOUG RAU, USN

Captain Douglas Rau, USN

The Division of Engineering and Weapons is similar in organization to a College of Engineering in a civilian university. A Director, historically a Navy Captain, has charge of five academic departments. The Division is primarily housed in Rickover Hall, completed in 1974 and dedicated by Admiral Hyman G. Rickover, regarded as the father of our modern nuclear Navy.

The Division is supported by an array of sophisticated laboratory facilities, with state of the art equipment not available in many undergraduate or even graduate academic institutions. Highlights of the facilities include; a complete aerodynamics laboratory, a hydrodynamics laboratory, various state of the art Computer Aided Design (CAD) laboratories, a satellite ground station capable of communicating with orbiting spacecraft, including the Space Shuttle and the International Space Station, an advanced materials laboratory, and specialized electrical engineering laboratories.

Aerospace Engineering

Department Chair: CAPT R. Niewoehner, USN

The Aerospace Engineering Department offers one of the most exciting and challenging academic programs at the Naval Academy. The program is structured to produce naval officers who will meet the challenges of serving in such areas as naval aviation, naval research, and the Naval Space Command. The Aerospace Department offers two specific tracks of study in Aeronautics and Astronautics. Before the students endure the rigors of their track courses, they are immersed in "core curriculum" courses that establish a firm understanding in the fundamentals of engineering. The core curriculum covers such subjects as chemistry, physics, mathematics, engineering mechanics, thermodynamics, and electrical engineering. Aeronautics students will study topics such as aerodynamics, structures, propulsion, and flight vehicle performance. Astronautics students will focus their studies on such topics as the space environment, astrodynamics, spacecraft systems, and spacecraft attitude dynamics and control. Both tracks conclude with a design course, which allows midshipmen to apply their engineering knowledge to the design of an aero or space flight vehicle. The design course represents the culmination of four years of study in the aerospace engineering discipline.

Electrical and Computer Engineering is a cornerstone discipline that will shape the Navy and Marine Corps well into the future. The major offers a solid grounding in the fundamental concepts of Electrical Engineering with opportunities to specialize in Digital Computer Systems, Communications Systems, Microwave Systems, and Solid State Design. The Navy needs engineers educated in these concepts to lead the development of the Integrated Electric Drive System for ships and microelectronics; the foundation of all future electronic systems.

ECE students actively pursue application of classroom concepts in the laboratory. The department has extensive laboratories in fiber optics, microwave theory with radar applications, design and development of solid-state devices (transistors), digital and analog communications, integration of digital hardware and software, electro-mechanical energy conversion and electrical engineering design. The Electrical and Computer Engineering Department is constantly updating all laboratories with leading edge technology.

The overall curriculum of the Mechanical Engineering department supports the moral and mental preparation of midshipmen providing them with the skills and knowledge they will meet to be successful as junior officers in the United States Navy and Marine Corps.

The Mechanical Engineering program supports the Academy's mission by providing midshipmen with a broad education in mechanical engineering subjects and a knowledge of fundamental engineering principles that enhance their ability to understand and design naval systems and to supervise the operation of these systems. The Mechanical Engineering Department strives to maintain faculty, curriculum and supporting facilities, which facilitates excellence in undergraduate teaching.

The department takes seriously the need to develop in its graduates a sound understanding of the design process and its importance in the success of engineering activity through a series of four sequential courses, considered the design backbone. Other courses that are primarily oriented towards the analysis of engineering science provide direct support to the design backbone.

Tomorrow's Navy must operate on, below, and just above the surface of the sea utilizing a variety of ships, submarines, deep submergence vehicles and diving equipment while performing a multitude of missions in defense, research, exploration and exploitation of earth's last frontier - its oceans. The essential ingredient to the success of all these missions is Man. To develop naval officers capable of performing effectively in this complex environment is the goal of the Naval Architecture and Ocean Engineering Department (NA&OE).

In endeavoring to prepare officers to meet the Navy's present and future needs, the Department offers ABET accredited degrees in Naval Architecture and Ocean Engineering - each an interdisciplinary field involving the application of engineering principles relating to the ocean environment. These marine-oriented programs of study are supported by the latest in facilities at the Academy and are taught by an experienced staff of dedicated professional faculty. All these studies have direct carry over to careers in the Naval Service. The knowledge of basic engineering principles, their practical application and the research and design insights provided through these majors offer a well-balanced preparation for the ready assimilation of young officers into the fleet as well as a basis for postgraduate studies.

Systems Engineering is an interdisciplinary major whose primary objective is to provide an overall understanding of the analysis and design of complete engineering systems. This is accomplished through the study of such topics as electronics, mechanics, and computer engineering. The emphasis is on the mathematical modeling, analysis, synthesis, and control of such systems and on their simulation using the department's extensive computing facilities.

For naval officers, the Systems Engineering major is of significant value to the professional whose career will be continually involved with the operation and maintenance of sophisticated, integrated systems.

The Gorman Report has rated the Systems Engineering major at the Naval Academy number one in the nation for over fifteen consecutive years.

Division of Mathematics & Science

> "Science is a way of thinking much more than it is a body of knowledge."
> --Carl Sagan

Captain Scott Pugh, USN

The Division of Mathematics & Science provides fundamental knowledge in Mathematics and Science for aspiring naval officers. The core courses of Mathematics, Chemistry, and Physics are taught to all midshipmen to aid in their understanding of the universal scientific principles basic to modern technology and to enable them to succeed in any of the Academy's technical majors. The Division also provides the full educational value of majors for those midshipmen who choose to specialize in the fields of Chemistry, IT Major, General Science, Mathematics, Oceanography, Physics, or Quantitative Economics.

The Chemistry major at the Naval Academy provides midshipmen with training in all of the discipline's traditional fields, leading to a Bachelor of Science degree. The Chemistry Department has one of the finest undergraduate chemistry laboratories in the nation. Skilled technicians maintain the laboratories, assist the faculty, and help midshipmen solve practical problems in the labs.

The faculty have a wealth of experience, not only in their academic understanding of chemistry, but also in the practical application of chemistry in the Navy and Marine Corps. Chemistry majors will find that their civilian and military instructors can make the study of chemistry a highlight of their learning experience at the Naval Academy.

In the rapidly changing field of computer technology, the nationally accredited USNA Computer Science Department is dedicated to remaining on the leading edge. The computer science major is a dynamic and vital component of the Naval Academy's academic program. The computer science major equips junior officers with the skills necessary to serve in today's hi-tech naval forces while shaping the naval forces of tomorrow.

The Computer Science Department is accredited by the Computing Accreditation Commision of ABET and offers a major in Computer Science leading to a Bachelor of Science degree. The department has approximately 200 majors and a faculty of 15. Faculty and students have access to outstanding office and lab facilities including networked PCs and Suns.

The department's mission is to serve the Navy and Marine Corps through excellence in Computer Science education and research. The faculty strive to provide a strong, dynamic, nationally recognized and accredited Computer Science program providing state of the art education and research opportunities focused on computer science concepts and technologies critical to the Naval services in the 21st century.

The Mathematics Major teaches midshipmen to think logically and critically; these fundamental abilities are valuable to the naval officer. Mathematics plays a central role in virtually every technical and scientific field and is crucial in modern, accurate models of the environment. Mathematics provides training in analyzing problems, formulating methods of attack, and expressing results in a clear and logical manner. These same skills are applied aboard a ship or submarine, inside a fighter jet, and in all military communities.

All Mathematics majors take required courses beyond the three semesters of calculus taken by all midshipmen. These courses provide a common language that is used in the subsequent elective courses in pure and applied mathematics and in operations research.

An interdisciplinary science major, oceanography involves the study of meteorology, geophysics, physics, chemistry, biology and geology as they relate to the ocean environment. Basic courses in these areas are prerequisites for more advanced oceanography and meteorology courses, such as sound propagation in the ocean, the study of waves and tides, and the use of satellites in oceanography. Other courses include biological oceanography, which offers a glimpse of the production of marine plants and animals; synoptic meteorology, which involves hands-on weather forecasting experience using the latest tools available; and advanced mathematics, which are necessary to describe the complex behavior of fluid environments.

The civilian and military faculty members have backgrounds in disciplines ranging from dynamic meteorology to marine biology, geology and oceanography. Their research is at the forefront of modern science, applying the most recent technological advances in satellites and computational technology. Researchers' interests cover topics as diverse as mathematical modeling of the Chesapeake Bay and explosive development of storms. The military faculty brings fleet experiences into the classroom and provides midshipmen with real world examples of how meteorology and oceanography affect different warfare specialties.

The major program in physics presents fundamental physical concepts and principles in such a way as to emphasize their general usefulness and lays a strong foundation for further work in a broad range of technical fields. The challenge of physics lies in uniting its laws and definitions, expressed through algebra, trigonometry and calculus, with the integrative reasoning so essential in solving new problems. A bachelor of science degree is awarded.

Some of the topics treated in the sequence of courses are the origin, propagation and reception of waves of all kinds; field concepts; theory of relativity; basic theory of quantum mechanics; and statistical mechanics. All are studied with the object of developing an open-minded and creative approach to the physical world -- an approach increasingly important to those who will be leaders in the modern Navy. The physics major is particularly suitable for those midshipmen entering the nuclear power program, but many recent physics majors have opted for Navy air, surface line and Marine Corps as well. Advanced degrees are available to qualified physics majors prior to graduation, immediately after graduation and later in their careers.

Division of Humanities & Social Sciences

"I came,

I saw,

I conquered."

--Julius Caesar

Colonel Kenneth Inman, USMC

The programs of the Division of Humanities and Social Sciences introduce midshipmen to the study of human behavior in all its varied manifestations. Each discipline examines humankind through a different lens while emphasizing critical thinking, the careful collection and analysis of evidence, and the importance of clear oral and written expression.

Midshipmen majoring in the Humanities and Social Sciences earn a Bachelor of Science degree by completing course requirements and pursuing advanced electives within their discipline. Students also take a wide range of leadership and professional courses in combination with a core engineering curriculum. Our graduates combine highly refined independent thinking and analysis skills with a foundation in math and engineering that sets them apart from their peers. Upon their commissioning, our students are academically and professionally prepared to pursue a career path in any branch of the Navy or Marine Corps.

The Economics Department helps prepare the Naval Officers in the most fundamental lessons of resource scarcity relative to potential uses – thinking Economically. The Economics program provides understanding of the economic institutions and economic systems each officer is pledged to defend. The department also seeks to provide knowledge of world resource endowments, industrial patterns, trade flows, and the nature and the interdependency of the world's diverse economic systems in order to provide a useful background in dealing with the citizens and representatives of other countries that U.S. officers will inevitably encounter. The department also seeks to provide a major that provides a strong set of mid-career skills, in particular, for the midshipman who may attend service schools such as the Naval War College, staff billet assignments, postgraduate training in management, national security, and intelligence, and future subspecialty designations in management and politico-military or strategic planning.

The English Department offers a wide array of courses: midshipmen study everything from Homer to Hamlet, from Marlowe to Morrison, from Dickens to Dickinson. The English Department has a mix of 23 civilians and ten officers currently teaching. Two hundred seven majors in the department will graduate with a BS degree. The department offers an honors major as well as opportunities for independent study or graduate study at local universities.

The History Department of the United States Naval Academy offers a wide variety of courses in many different areas of American, European, and world history. Each year approximately 90 midshipmen graduate from the Naval Academy with a Bachelor of Science degree in History.

In addition to the standard major, there is a special honors major in which selected students may participate.

The faculty of the History Department includes specialists in many areas of history. There are 28 civilian and 17 military faculty members that represent the department.

The Language Studies Department offers courses through the fourth-year college level in Mandarin Chinese, French, German, Japanese, Russian, and Spanish.

First- and second-year courses help midshipmen acquire proficiency in listening, speaking, reading and writing the language of their choice. Third-year courses continue building language proficiency while introducing midshipmen to the culture and literature of the language area. Fourth-year courses presuppose linguistic competence and concentrate on more specialized topics in the history, contemporary society, and literature of the countries where the language is spoken. At all levels, classes are conducted and written work is done in the target language. Acquisition of language and culture is supported extensively by technologies like video and computer based multimedia wherever appropriate.

The Political Science department offers the full range of political science courses plus a number of uncommon offerings that deal with the politics of war and Civil-Military relations. The department offers a full range of courses on American political institutions and processes and those focusing on international relations and comparative government.

The normal faculty complement includes civilian professors and military officers. The civilian professors comprise the permanent faculty, providing stability and academic expertise the program and maintain an extensive record of publication, professional society involvement and consulting. Military officers come to the department after receiving their Master's degree and generally teach for three years within the area of their expertise. "Permanent Military Professors" have been introduced into the faculty, combining the best of the academic and professional worlds.

The department also sponsors a number of extracurricular activities such as an active Model United Nations Club (MUN), the Naval Academy Foreign Affairs Conference (NAFAC) and a chapter of the National Political Science honor society, Pi Sigma Alpha.

Division of Professional Development

“A good Navy is not a provacation to war.
It is the surest guaranty of peace.”
-- President T. Roosevelt

Captain James Smith, USN

The Division of Professional Development, or PRODEV prepares midshipmen to be professional officers in the Naval and Marine Corps services. The courses offered by the academic departments -- Leadership, Ethics & Law, and Seamanship & Navigation -- develop skills in the classroom environment. The Department of Professional Programs provides the opportunity for Midshipmen to move out of the classroom and experience life at sea with operational fleets. The staff and faculty are comprised of both military and civilian instructors providing a diversified learning environment for the Midshipmen.

The Seamanship and Navigation Department is the largest department within the Division of Professional Development. The Department's curriculum provides a foundation in basic marine engineering, seamanship, ship handling, ship operations, and tactics. The core curriculum spans the midshipman's entire four years at the Naval Academy and is designed to provide them with a broad base of knowledge, enhanced by practical summer training.

The Seamanship and Navigation is also responsible for all Naval Academy related employment of the Yard Patrol Craft stationed at Naval Station Annapolis. These YP's are used extensively in the core courses and provide an excellent means for practical hands-on experience. The YP's are also used for the Atlantic Professional Afloat Training for Midshipmen (LANTPATRAMID) a summer training program sponsored by Seamanship and Navigation.

The Department of Leadership, Ethics, and Law helps to mold midshipmen into future Naval and Marine Corps Officers. Courses offered include Leadership and Human Behavior, Leadership Theory and Application, Naval Law, Moral Reasoning for Naval Leaders, and Psychology. The department aims to provide graduates with the ethical and behavioral foundations that our nation's military demands in its leaders. Through discussion, debate, and analytical thinking, midshipmen are able to confront both theoretical and real world scenarios that they may encounter while serving as officers in the Naval Service. By confronting what past and present officers have done in "tough" situations, midshipmen gain valuable insight into what they might do when confronted with similar situations. Midshipmen will later build on the leadership and moral foundations that were gained in the LEL department as graduates in the Naval Service.

The Department of Professional Programs performs three primary functions: administration of the summer training programs, assignment of graduating midshipmen to Navy and Marine Corps communities, and management of Technical Programs in Luce Hall. This includes providing technical support for the Luce Hall Local Area Network, Fleet Command warfare simulators, Luce Hall Planetarium and the electronic classrooms in Luce Hall.

Summer Training for midshipmen takes them all around the world, to Navy and Marine Corps installations, ships and submarines in oceans and ports from San Diego to the western Pacific, from Norfolk to the Mediterranean, and special schools both in the United States and overseas. The Department of Professional Programs ensures that each midshipman has valuable opportunities to gain fleet experience before graduating from the Naval Academy. Graduates rely on the department for their first assignment as Navy and Marine Corps officers.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

This year's team was lead by Coach Johnson and his powerful offensive line. Navy showed huge improvement the very first football game against SMU. The team then ran into a few road bumps, but gave Notre Dame a run for their money. The media did not know what was going on with the Notre Dame team. It only took a few minutes to realize it wasn't the Fighting Irish, but Navy who was making the win for Notre Dame a hard one. Soon after that exciting game, the Navy team showed up in New Jersey's Giants Stadium to give Army a beating. After a few scores Navy never looked back as they scored touchdown after touchdown. The captains for this year, that helped lead the team to such a successful season, were Josh Brendel and Donnie Fricks.

Army - Navy Football Game

On a cold Saturday in December, the Navy football team took to the field against Army in East Rutherford, NJ. The classic game's 103rd meeting took place with the sounds of Mids, "Woops", and fans filling Giants Stadium with raucous roars and cheers. Although we had a tough season earlier, winning only one of our eleven games, all fears were put to rest as the Mids crushed the Black Knights with a 58-12 victory. Quarterback Craig Candeto lead the midshipmen with a school record breaking 6 rushing touchdowns. Points were also awarded for a carry by Bryce McDonald, a pass reception from Candeto to Tony Lane, and a safety in the third quarter. The Mids also recorded four sacks, two each by Steve Adair and Pete Beutenmuller. The combined point total of 70 points was the most in a single game for the Army-Navy series.

NAVY CHEERLEADING

The year started off with a bang at NCA Cheerleading Camp in Myrtle Beach, SC while the rest of the brigade was reforming. Against all odds they brought home the coveted First Place Spirit Routine trophy and spirit stick. The year ahead brought challenges and opportunities for the team to grow. With a small senior class, each person brought a great deal to the team. Captain Marjorie Ribeiro brought her talent and leadership, Lisa Quayle with her smile and positive attitude, and newcomer Jessica Dixon added irreplaceable memories. The team would not have been complete without the strong underclass, building everlasting friendships and experiences. From beating the Mustangs in Dallas with a much deserved victory, to Air Force bonding experiences, Bourbon Street in New Orleans, a heartfelt loss to N.D., cold rainy Connecticut, and finally ending the season strong with a record victory against Army, our cheerleading team shined throughout the year. Best of luck to all the underclass and remember, FLY NAVY!

SPRINT FOOTBALL

All of you who came out to see the Navy Sprint Football team compete this year found out soon after the opening kick-off that the games were not competitions at all but complete and utter dominations. With respect to our opponents, much of our advantage began before the first snap of the ball. Starting in the spring, the Navy Sprint team began an extensive strength and conditioning program that built our mental toughness and kept our weight in check. And then with preseason captain's practices, fifths, gassers, Oklahoma drills, and bravehearts, we flat-out outworked our opponents and paid our dues in full. Right from the start we had our sights set on an undefeated season and a repeat championship.The Navy Sprint coaching staff led by Major Jerome Rizzo demanded hard work and perfection from every single player on the team every time we stepped on the field whether it was a practice, a study session, or a game. They kept out motivation high and are focus keen throughout the season. “ We will fight as a team, or we will die as individuals.” There were too many incredible ballplayers on this team to mention in a short article. Some of our achievements this year included: First undefeated Navy Sprint team in five years, 12 out of the 24 first team all league honors, Navy Sprint average of 42.4 points per game, opponents average of 5.9, league MVP, CSFL Coach of the Year, and numerous other league leading statistics, awards, and recognitions.

MEN'S SOCCER

The Navy Soccer team, led by Captain Craig Ruhs and Seniors Joe Snyder, Joe Hembree, Daniel Neverosky, Bobby Cherneski, Aaron McElhose, Daniel Montgomery, Matt Wilson, Mike Taylor along with Junior Myles McAllister, has been a strong force during their years playing together, compiling an overall record of 36-24-9. The 2002 Navy soccer team had a difficult season this past year. A record of 5-10-3 did not reflect the true talent or effort the midshipmen displayed on the field. The midshipmen started the season off strong winning the Navy Tournament by defeating Manhattan and then Massachusetts. The following week the midshipmen played in the Birmingham Southern Soccer Tournament where they split, defeating the host 2-1, then losing to the University of Alabama 0-1. The Patriot league recognized Daniel Montgomery for his strong performance as a forward with an All League selection. The team is poised for success in the 2003 season with 4 returning starters and other talented players.

WOMEN'S SOCCER

Navy Women's Soccer had one of the most successful seasons both on and off the field. It was the first time in school history that a team completed the season undefeated. Only one other team in the nation was able to accomplish the same feat. On a team level, Stacey Finley received the Most Valuable Player award while Amelia Sheveland was the Most Valuable Offensive Player and Xochitl Piedra was the Most Valuable Defensive Player. Navy Women's Soccer was highly recognized in the Patriot League. Stacey Finley, Nadia Sheikh, and Xochitl Piedra received first team honors and Amelia Sheveland and Kim Bonafede received second team honors. Stacey Finley was recognized as the most Valuable Offensive Player in the Patriot League.

Navy Women's Soccer finished second in overall standings for the Patriot League, but lost in the semi-finals against American University. On a national level, the team finished second in overall team goals against average. Although this years squad did not accomplish its ultimate goal of reaching the NCAA tournament, it was a successful season as the team earned respect at all levels.

WOMEN'S VOLLEYBALL

The 2002 Navy Women's Volleyball team came into the fall season well prepared coming off a great spring season and countless hours with Cliff getting "HUGE" in Halsey. We set some great goals at the beginning of the season and unfortunately fell short at the end of the season by not making Patriot League Playoffs. However, we posted a winning record, and more importantly we BEAT ARMY!!! The class of 2003 can say they left the program with the most coveted milestone in Navy athletics: the N-Star. The underclass can also boast at least one N-star in their pockets. More importantly, this was a very athletic and skilled Navy team with a great, supportive coaching staff. The consistency of the Great Schwab, aka Coach Schwob, and Maaaliah, aka ENS Price aka Coach Price, and the addition of "the greatest thing to happen to Navy volleyball since spandex", aka LT Burke, and the wonderful Rau family. This was quite possibly the tightest knit Navy Volleyball team ever with the only controversial issue being ice cream. The Class of '03 will miss playing for Navy and these wonderful women we leave behind!

MEN'S CROSS COUNTRY

The Navy Men's Cross Country Team completed another successful season in 2002 under the coaching of Al Cantello and led by Captain 1/c Aaron Lanzel and 2/c Eric Eckstrand. The third through seventh runners changed regularly due to the depth of the 2002 squad. Members included 1/c Ray Driscoll, 1/c Brian Harrington, 1/c Dan Christensen, 1/c Ben Morris, 1/c Rudyard Olmstead, 2/c Steve Hickman, 3/c Benjamin Glaser, 3/c Josh McCann, 3/c Barry Carmody, 3/c Joe Russo, 3/c Rosco Carney, 4/c Ty Rose and 4/c Josh Sink who all took part in the scoring over the 2002 season.

The mature team came out of the gates winning their first three opening meets, victorious over 33 other teams collectively. Navy swept Army for the sixth consecutive year. Nearly all of the top five finishers for Navy, 2/c Eric Eckstrand, 1/c Aaron Lanzel, 1/c Brian Harrington, 1/c Dan Christensen and 3/c Ben Glaser, were under the 25 minute mark on the difficult Navy Cross Country Course. At the Heptagonal Championships Navy placed 4th in the 9 team field. Both Lanzel and Eckstrand ran times that place them on the Top 25 list for USNA runners on the historical course. Losing 6 seniors this year, Navy will have many open spots for the next season. The return of injured 2/c Eric Schimdt and 3/c Trey Alverson will aid the rest of the underclass faction from 2002 in continuing the Navy Cross Country tradition in 2003.

WOMEN'S CROSS COUNTRY

A young Navy Cross Country team gained valuable experience this fall, setting many personal goals along with way. With only two seniors graduating last year, our team built camaraderie and lasting memories. The team took an early victory at the Salty Sea Dog Invitational, our first home meet, finishing first out of twelve teams. 2/C Stephanie Patterson led the team to victory with her sixth place finish.

The goal of the team this season was to emphasize group running and team strategy. This was accomplished at the Indiana Invitational in Terre Haute, Indiana. The two frontrunners, 1/C Lisa Procaccini and 2/C Stephanie Patterson finished within seven seconds of each other. The second pack, led by 1/C Jennifer Day worked well together to bring the team to a ninth place finish out of twenty-one tough competitors.

In addition to the new plebe class, the team welcomed another new member, officer representative, LT. Maureen Moroney. LT. Moroney was a huge benefit to the team bringing not only her experience as a Navy Cross Country runner but also as a Surface Warfare Officer. The team is well prepared for the upcoming season with a strong group of incoming plebes and the return of Coach Karen Boyle and LT. Moroney.

WATER POLO

The Navy Men's Water Polo team finished off their year with a heart-breaking loss in the Eastern Championship Finals to Queens college with a score of 5-4. This was a disappointing end to an otherwise strong season as the Mids won their eighth Southern Division Title and had some of their best performances ever against some powerhouse teams from Southern California.

The team kicked off their fall season with a preseason tournament victory at the Maui Invitational, and all the players agreed that fun and debauchery on the beach in Maui was critical to their success during the regular season. Considering the strong play of seniors Steve Phillabaum, Ben Ceniseroz, Cody Acuna, Adrian Rawn, and Nick Hill; the team will have a tough job replacing the personality and charisma that the firsties brought to the pool deck.

MEN'S BASKETBALL

The 2002-2003 Navy men's basketball team had a disappointing year capping off a 8-19 season with a loss to American in the quarterfinals of the Patriot League Championships. Captain Jason Jeanpierre said of his last collegiate game, "Anytime you end your career on a loss it's not a good thing, ... There's no next season. But I had fun playing four years for Coach DeVoe and Navy and I wouldn't change a thing. It was a great experience." Although there were many disappointing moments during the season, there were also many memorable highlights, including a 62-56 victory over Army that earned the Mids their N-Star. Quintrell McCreary sparked the team to rally from a 9-point deficit with his 14-point scoring streak during the second half. The Navy senior class, made up of McCreary, Long, Moore, Jeanpierre, and Ebong, scored over 2/3 of the team's total points for the game.

Statistically, Francis Ebong lead the team in field goals, sinking 53.4 percent of his throws. Scott Long ended up with the highest free throw percentage at 81.5%. Jason Jeanpierre lead the team in scoring with an average of 11.2 points per game and freshman David Hooper won the award for highest three-point average, sinking 42.4% of his attempts. The RADM Marryot award went to Quintrell McCreary, signifying his excellent sportsmanship and team leadership. The MVP award went to Jason Jeanpierre, and Mitch Moore received the Coaches' Award, traditionally given to the outstanding defensive player of the year.

The 2002-2003 season for the ladies of Navy proved to be a successful one from both a teamwork and scoreboard viewpoint. The team finished with a 16-11 season record and pushed Bucknell into overtime during the Patriot League Tournament, but unfortunately fell short. However, the mids proved themselves against Army on their court and ours, climaxing with a triple overtime free throw and steal by Maile Shimoda. Lisa Steinmetz led the team as captain this year, and earned an award for playing in 111 out of 112 possible career games, the 2nd most by any Navy player. Courtney Davidson stole the spotlight however, earning first-team All-Patriot League, first team Verizon Academic All-America honors, and the Patriot League Women's basketball Scholar Athlete of the Year Award. The team also said goodbye to longtime head coach and friend, Joe Sanchez.

MEN'S SWIMMING

The 2003 Navy Men's Swim Team began their season with a team championship title at the Maryland Open Water Swim Championship. They continued their success by winning their next five dual meets with a record of 5-0 going into Army. The Navy men's swim team rolled over Army for the 12th straight year, 156-87, at West Point. The win marked the seventh time in the last eight meetings that Navy's men have beaten Army by more than 50 points. In his 37th and last year as head coach of Navy Men's Swimming, Coach Lawrence noted, "I am very proud of the efforts of our team all season," said Lawrence. "There were great swims by a great group of guys. I can't say enough about them." Lawrence is retiring after a 36-year association with the men's swimming program, the last 30 as the head coach. In addition to compiling a 233-139 record with the men's swimming team, Lawrence amassed a 32-29 record in six seasons as the head coach of the women's swimming team (1979-85), as well as a 68-12 mark as the head coach of the men's water polo program (1982-84). His three programs compiled a 29-10 record against Army. With former assistant Coach Bill Roberts returning to Navy next season, look for him and a strong senior class to lead the team to the top of the Eastern Intercollegiate Swimming League.

WOMEN'S SWIMMING

Navy Women's Swimming and Diving had an extremely successful year! They captured their 14th win over Army, placed 2nd at the Patriot League Championships and placed 4th at ECAC's. Before the season, the swim team competed at the Sunfest Ocean swim. From August through February, these women got up at 0515 for morning practice, lifted weights during lunch,and had a 2 hour practice after school as well. Every practice, every hypoxic set, and every benchmark set payed off. During dual meet competition, they went 8-4, including the defeat over Army. Even the Gunnys celebrated that victory with them at West Point. And for one week over Christmas break, they swam and had fun in Ft. Lauderdale. Fun Fridays and Disco on Wednesdays will never be forgotten.

Thank you to Hoss, Steve, Joe, and David, our coaches, who made this season very successful. Thank you also to our Seniors: Rebecca Baldwin, Megan Barnett, Katie Capaldo, Katie Costello, (Captain) Kimberly Montague, Noelle Navas, Brenna Schnars, Alicia Washkevich, and Heather Williams!!

MEN'S INDOOR TRACK

The 2002-2003 Navy Men's indoor track team had an overall successful season, posting important victories in invitationals and a most impressive win over Army, right before they headed into their championship season. Although their team performances were not as they had hoped for in the Patriot League and IC4A Championshsips, they were still met with some outstanding individual performances. Aaron Lanzel continued to bring his mile time lower, Brazier lead the way in sprints, Ekundayo posted top performances in the hurdles, Schmidt and Eckstrand continued to perform with vigor in the distance events, and Morgan consistently posted top marks in the jumps. With a large host of younger athletes, the Navy men's team looks forward to continued success during the next indoor season.

WOMEN'S INDOOR TRACK

The 2002-2003 Navy women's indoor track team had a fairly successful year, doing very well as a team and as individuals. Although their loss to Army gave them an emotional blow, they took it in stride and got right back on their feet by placing 4th in the Patriot League Championships. Indoor captain Joanne Uwujaren lead the team in spirit and example, consistently placing in the long jump, triple jump, and the high hurdles. Outdoor captain Shannon Crites also helped the team by posting exceptional performances in the high jump, long and triple jumps, and the hurdles, as well as allowing her experience to help her motivate her younger teammates.

Standouts throughout the season were: Taneisha Davis, who broke her own school record in the sprints, Stephanie Patterson in the distance events, Amanda Hasenauer in the pole vault, Amy Stokes in middle distance and relays, and freshman Jennifer Leatherman in the throwing events. Davis and Uwujaren were the only two from the team to compete in the ECAC Championships, and Davis qualified for the NCAA Regionals with her 400m time.

NAVY GYMNASTICS

MEN'S GYMNASTICS

The 2002-2003 Navy men's gymnastics team had an overall successful year, learning from their mistakes and building confidence from their victories. Although they did not defeat Army in their N-Star match, the Navy men competed very well individually and placed very high at the NCAA qualifying meet. Drew Barker and Ben Peterman both earned an 11th place finish, with Dave Vogelgesang and Grant Regelin coming in right behind them at 12th and 14th place, respectively. With no graduating seniors, the team should have no problem reforming next year for another successful season. "We have been improving and performing well. We have a really good team, but we just don't have enough depth like some of the other squads, " said coach Sho Fukushima of his team after the ECAC Championship, where they placed 6th. WRESTLING

During the 2002-2003 season, Navy's wrestling team performed well overall, posting a 9-6 record in dual matches, as well as a first place tournament finish and other good performances in tournaments. They performed well in the tough EIWA championship and placed 39th in the NCAA championship. Junior Frank Edwards placed 7th at the NCAA tournament to earn All-American honors and follow in the footsteps of former Navy wrestler Mark Conley. Steve Kovach would have had a chance at becoming an All-American but a disappointing injury earlier in the season prevented him from competing most of his senior season.

In the Navy tradition, the team posted a win over Army to claim the N-Star honor for yet another year. "Conditioning was a factor tonight," said Navy head coach Bruce Burnett. "Our guys did a good job of coming out aggressive and taking the match to them. I'm very proud of the way the guys competed." (NavySports.com)

Next year, the Navy team will have another strong squad even though they will lose many starting seniors. Sam Gray will help lead the squad at 125-lbs. after being ranked nationally during the middle of the season.

SQUASH

The 2002-2003 Navy Squash season was a long and hard-fought quest to break into the top ten in the country. The team had a solid base posting four seniors, Edson Greenwood, David Haile, Bill Schmermund, and Kinleong Ho, in the top nine spots on the team. Aiding the Seniors were juniors Mason Berry, and Nick Bitting, sophomores Gavin Morrison, Mike Brennan, and Mike Rogers, and freshman Scott Hackman, Patrick Kruse, and Dhruv Parashar. This proved to be a good mix of talent and experience. Highlights of the season include a trip out to California to play Stanford, Cal Berkley, and The San Francisco Bay Club, all of which Navy won. This was followed by a tough and exciting schedule that boasted six of the top ten teams and all of our yearly rivalries. The biggest of these rivalries was against Franklin & Marshall where Navy pulled out a five to four victory to seal their position in the second bracket. The team ended the season sixteen in the nation but was not far from the number ten spot. The teams in the ten to sixteen bracket were all very competitive and were only separated by a few points each match. All in all it was a great season that was full of excitement, hard work, and success.

RIFLE

The 2002-2003 Navy rifle team had a tremendously successful year, losing only one match in their dual meet season. They won every competition they entered, and sent three members of the team, Matt Albright, Mike Miller, and Kevin Wilson to the Junior Olympics. Their only disappoint came at the hands of four-time NCAA champions Alaska-Fairbanks. By winning the President's Trophy, the MAC Championship, and the N-Star against Army, this year's Navy rifle team proved they will always be a force to be reckoned with.

Among their other accomplishments, the team finished sixth at the national championship, and Matt Albright and James Kauber received All-America recognition. Matt Albright continued to display his prowess at the US Open Rifle National Championship, where he earned the honor of being the second best junior shooter in the United States. Team captain James Kauber's career ended on another high note, where he was named to the first team Verizon Academic All-District II.

MEN'S LACROSSE

The 2002-2003 Navy men's lacrosse team had an OK season after finishing up with a 6-8 record. Their season ended on a high note with the thrilling defeat of Army on our home turf, but there were many disappointing moments as well. However, the exceptional senior class this year has helped build and nurture the underclass of the team into what should become one of the strongest Navy lacrosse team the school has seen in years.

Standout players Chris Stebbings and Greg Conklin joined the long list of Navy players to receive All-American recognition after their exceptional defensive and offensive skills were shown on the field time and time again. Stebbings and Chris Dingman were also honored with All-ECAC Lacrosse League awards.

GOLF

The 2002-2003 men's golf team performed exceptionally in many of their events this year, and capped off a successful season with a 23rd place finish at the NCAA West Regionals in Auburn, Washington. Lead by captain Brian Crum and senior Nick Rogers, the team finished their last three matches in first place, including a win on their home turf at the Navy Spring Invitational and a first place finish at the Patriot League Champiosnips. Junior Billy Hurley also posted excellent performances throughout the season, shooting just over par in the NCAA championships and also earning Patriot League Golfer of the Month honors for March of 2003. Head Coach Pat Owen was extremely pleased with his team this year, especially after their first place finish at the Patriot League championships in Center Valley, PA, where Crum, Hurley, and Rogers swept the field. Owen remarks of his golfers, "This is a great reward for the hard work these guys have put in not just this year, but for guys like Brian (Crum) and Nick (Rogers), four years of hard work." (NavySports.com)

Next year, Hurley will continue to be a strong asset to the team, along with Joey Kistler and Rocky Novellino. With a little hard work and a lot of heart, the team could once again win the Patriot League Championships and earn another shot at the big dance.

BASEBALL

The 2002-2003 Navy baseball team had a decent year, finishing the season with a 21-19 record before being blown out in the Patriot League Championship by Bucknell University. One of their big victories of the year cam against Army, where they beat them decisively in three out of the four games in the series, and were edged out in the fourth game after giving up a 5-0 lead to six unanswered Army runs. Other highlights included Navy's rout of Lehigh in the end of the season, which gave them a berth in the Patriot League Championship. Andy Froistad helped clinch the final game by only only allowing six hits during the entire match.

Navy's program was given a bit of exposure after standout pitcher Matt Foster was selected in the 13th round draft pick to play for the Pulaski Blue Jays. Matt made history by becoming the first Navy player ever to be selected for the professional draft. "It's a real honor (to be the first Navy baseball player drafted) because of all the great players that have come before me, " said Foster.

MEN'S OUTDOOR TRACK

The 2002-2003 Navy men's outdoor team had many individual and team accomplishments, including a sixth place finish at the Heptagonal Championships in May. The team started out well with a few first place finishes, and kept going strong after a successful day on the track against Army. The end of the season was highlighted by some exceptional performances at the NCAA Qualifying Meet. Senior Aaron Lanzel ran the 1500m in 3:47:00, turning in a seventh place finish that was just shy of getting him to the big dance. Erik Schmidt, Josh McCann, and Joshua Sink also had good performances in the 1500m, and Bobby Spraks placed 15th in the pole vault at a height of 16'11/4". Ralph Lufkin and Dan Christensen capped off the day with a 21st place finish in the hammer throw and a 19th place finish in the 3000m steeplechase, respectively.

WOMEN'S OUTDOOR TRACK

The 2002-2003 Navy women's team had some ups and downs throughout the season, but they finished the season stronger and smarter than when they had began. Although they suffered a disappointing loss at the hands of Army, their greatest accomplishment came at the end of the season with their fantastic first place team finish at the Patriot League Championships. "We're really excited to win the championship," said Navy head coach Carla Criste. "I'm really proud of everyone as they stepped up and performed better than we may have expected." The team will lose strong seniors such as Crites, Hasenauer, Uwujaren, Stokes, and Procaccini, but the underclass will bear the burden of responsibility well for the women of Navy track.

Team Captain Cameron Lickle was also named First-Team All-Patriot League, along with sophomore Dany Lee. Chris McGrath, Ryan Osgood, Dany Lee, and Daniel Huyhn were all named to the Patriot League Academic Honor Roll. The pair of Osgood and Lickle won the No.1 doubles title at the 2002 Patriot League Fall Championship. The team finished a strong season with an 11-13 record overall and 4-1 record within the Patriot League.

OFFSHORE SAILING

The 2002-2003 Navy offshore team finished the fall racing season by gaining valuable experience, and started the spring season with some impressive finishes. Lead by team captain Max Desrochers, the offshore team sailed up and down the shores of the Severn, Chesapeake, New England, and even the Southern Coast of California, where they sailed unfamiliar boats to a fourth place finish in the National Championships. Next year's team will bring with them a wealth of experience, as many of this year's skippers will lead the team next year as seniors.

INTERCOLLEGIATE SAILING

We began in the Fall with both the co-ed and women's team ranked 15th nationally, and our goal was to break into the top ten. The team worked hard, and gained several top five finishes: 3rd place at the Pine Trophy, 4th place at Navy Fall, and 5th place at the Nevins, Navy Women's Fall, and HWS Fall Intersectional regattas. Five team members qualified for the Mid-Atlantic [co-ed] Laser Championships, but were unable to qualify for North Americans. Senior Emily duPont qualified for Women's Singlehanded North Americans in Houston, where she finished 12th. The team's top finish of the season was 4th place at the Sloop North American Championships in New York.

Despite these strong finishes, we began the Spring season unranked. Our Spring performance was brought down by low finishes in important regattas such as the War Memorial, and the departure of our head coach, our team captain, and two assistant coaches. Additionally, the sailing center went under construction, and the basin remained frozen throughout February and early March, severely limiting practice. The team is grateful to LT Mike Heffernan for his guidance during this period. In the face of unfavorable circumstances, the dedication of the team prevailed and we finished with rankings of 19th in co-ed and 13th in women's, and barely missed qualifying for nationals. Season highlights include 3rd and 4th at Atlantic Coast Mono Championships, 5th at Navy Women's Spring, 8th at the Boston Dinghy Cup, and 9th at the Truxtun Umsted regatta.

New head coach Gavin O'Hare, a former Navy sailor, joined us halfway through the spring season. The team he will be working with has increasing depth and talent, as shown by strong underclass and freshman finishes throughout the season. Under his leadership, the intercollegiate sailing team is poised for an excellent 2003-2004 season. Practice hard, play fair, and sail fast.

MEN'S HEAVYWEIGHT CREW

The 2002-2003 season wrote yet another chapter in a storied Navy Crew tradition. Coming off of a very strong finish to the 2001-2002 season at the Intercollegiate Rowing Association Championships (IRAs) with both the first freshman and the varsity eights earning the chances to row in their respective grand finals, a feat that placed both crews in the top six in the country, the team set out in August with a redefined vision. When the boats hit the water in the fall season, Navy was aiming to dominate the fastest league in the country and earn a gold medal at the IRA Regatta in 2003.

The 2002 fall season was marked with strong finishes including a win at the Navy Day Regatta in Philadelphia. After the fall season, the team shut the boat bay doors and settled in for what would be one of the longest winter training seasons the team had seen in years. After months of indoor training on the ergometers, the ice finally broke for Spring Break training, the bay doors reopened and the shells returned to the Severn. Traveling to Redwood Shores, California early for some pre-season racing to face some of the country's best competition, the team had some much needed, unusually close match-ups that led to a great deal of success during the regular season including winning the George Washington Invitational in Washington, D.C. and winning the annual Goes Cup against Syracuse and Cornell. A strong finish in their league championships, 'Eastern Sprints,' enabled the midshipmen to be poised to gain even more speed on the water in their last and perhaps toughest races of the season at home against Wisconsin and then against the rest of the country at the IRA Regatta on 29-31 May 2003. The 2002-2003 season is certainly one of Navy's strongest in years.

WOMEN'S CREW

The 2002-2003 Navy women's crew team had a fantastic year, overcoming their lack of experience with an enormous amount of talent. The varsity, made up mainly of sophomores and juniors, proved with their dedication and talent that next year's crew team will be quite formidable. However, seniors Vicky Burns and Betsy Stauffer finished their last season with a bang, beating MIT decisively between the banks of the Severn River. The underclass of the team took the reins for the last race of the year at the Eastern Sprint Championship. After competing against senior-heavy boats from other schools, the underclass of Navy proved themselves with a 15th place finish.

LIGHTWEIGHT CREW

The Navy Lightweights of 2002-2003 came back from their summer break having finished the previous season as the second fastest team in the country. Determinded to live up to last year's unprecedented success, the rowers began the fall season training hard, putting in many long hours on the Severn. All that work paid off as the varsity finished 3rd in collegiate lightweight crews at the head of the Charles in Boston, and had another strong showing at the Princeton Chase a few weeks later. The freshmen also came out strong, with their two boats posting the fastest combined score at the Belly of the Carnegie. Following a long winter of erging, the Navy Lights took to the road with high hopes for the spring. The dual season saw mixed results, however, as the team fell to Princeton in its first race and the varsity was beaten by yale at the San Diego Crew Classic. The JV and Freshmen crews had impressive results at the Occuquan Sprints, however, and the team followed those up with its best race of the regular season against harvard. Navy swept the haines Cup for the second year in a row, the first time in the cup's 40-year history that the midsipmen have won back-to-back victories. Although the varsity then ran into some trouble against Georgetown, the Lights won the rest of the races and swept the Callow Cup for the third straigt year versus UPenn. At the Eastern Sprints, the team finished third overall in the Jope Cup standings on the strength of gold medal performances by both Plebe crews and a bronze from the JV. While the Varsity faltered at Sprints, they continue to prepare for nationals on May 31st and look forward to showing their true speed.

HOCKEY

Navy's ice hockey club completed another successful season in 2002-2003, finishing with a record of 16-13-1 overall and 11-6-1 in the Eastern Collegiate Hockey Association (ECHA). The highlight of the Mids' season was the second consecutive Crabpot Tournament championship, which Navy won by defeating Villanova and Mercyhurst during the first weekend of February. Senior Todd Lohstreter was named the tournament's Most Valuable Player, one of several honors the North Dakota native earned this past season. Lohstreter also was named the Academy's Club Sports Male Athlete of the Year, the hockey team's Hardest Worker, and an American Collegiate Hockey Association (ACHA) Academic All-American and honorable mention All-American. Senior Jon Martha received the Darrin Campbell Leadership Award in recognition of the leadership he displayed on and off the ice as team captain. Fellow firstie Luke Saladyga was named the club's Unsung Hero. Other departing seniors who will be sorely missed next year are forward Lukin Lain and defenseman Nick Hennenfent.

Junior J.D. Walker was named the team's Most Valuable Player for 2002-2003 and was its leading scorer with 32 goals and 31 assists, followed by Lohstreter with 26 goals and 18 assists and Lain with 22 goals and 18 assists. Junior Kacey Kemmerer, who was named co-captain for the 2003-2004 season along with Walker, recorded 9 goals and 17 assists. Youngster Jeff Storer was elected as Assistant Captain for 2003-2004, and junior Mike Kessler will be Team President. Kessler was also recognized as an ACHA Academic All-American. Additionally, Sam Kunst was named Outstanding Freshman, John Bogdan and Matthew Collinsworth tied for Most Improved Player honors. Defensively, the Midshipmen also were led by goaltenders Jared "Fuzzy" Wilhelm (class of '04) and Collinsworth (class of '05) along with a pair of plebes -- Whit Abraham and Ryan Dobie.

PISTOL

The International Pistol Team continued its winning dominance over the field of collegiate pistol shooters again during the 2002-2003 season. Completing their second consecutive undefeated campaign, the Navy gunslingers arrived at Fort Benning, Georgia, so they could claim their third national title in as many years.

Completely dominating the competition, Navy claimed the Men's and Women's Air, Standard and Sport Championships. They also clinched a second place spot in Free Pistol. Their victories earned them the overall aggregate Men's and Women's National Championships. Leading the way was 1/c James Diefenderfer, with a first place finish in Air Pistol and a second place position in Free Pistol. His accomplishments accorded him the overall individual aggregate National Championship. Also aiding Navy's quest for the gold was 2/c Justin Salvia with a third place finish in Standard Pistol and 2/c Daniel Krumbein with a second place spot in Air Pistol. The rest of the Navy shooters performed their best, and as a result Navy once again claimed the honors of being the best team in the nation! In addition, there were nine shooters who earned All-American recognition for their superb shooting records during the season.

The team had a great year, they BEAT ARMY, had an outstanding finish, and is extremely proud of their accomplishments. These highly motivated shooters are dedicated to again bringing home the gold in future years!

POWERLIFTING

The 2002-2003 Navy powerlifting team had a successful season, once again sending multiple athletes to the National Championships. However, their one disappointment came at the Tri-Service meet where the team competed against both Army and Air Force teams. Even though Robert Hillery, Thomas Duff, and Lauren Goldenburg captured first place honors in the individual competition, Navy's overall team score of 2 was not enough to overcome Army. However, Air Force put forth a weak showing and gave Navy the edge they needed to claim 2nd place. At the National Qualifier in February, Jennifer Bloom, Dara Ching, Matthew Frederick, John Hancock, and Lindsey Windham put forth tremendous efforts and their hard work paid off with a bid at Nationals. Finally in April, the team competed at the Collegiate Nationals and earned many individual honors. Robert Hillery took 2nd place in the 181 lb. weight class, with Stephen Macgillis taking 5th place. In the womens competition, Lauren Goldenburg took 5th place in the 181 lb. weight class. Jason Bowers and James Morris both took 3rd place, in the 165 lb. and 148 lb. weight classes, respectively.

KARATE

Inside the ring, Don "Tiki" Barber stands ready to pummel the poor shmuck in the ring. To the team, he looks ready to breathe fire and consume the opponent. In his mind however, he's thinking "How's my hair look?- I hate this head protection and I need to look good for my mom!" This is how the season was played out: tough matches, intense training, and looking good while doing it. It was the best of times. Going to West Virginia, New York, and New Jersey and crushing the competition in team tournaments. Watching Tiki defy gravity in a 15-passenger van and having Meredith decide EZ-Pass is the way to pay tolls except without actually paying. We also said goodbye at the end of the year to our instructor and coach of 11 years, Mr. John Critzos, who left the team to pursue family interests. To Mr. Critzos, we will miss you. God bless. To Master Johnson, our new coach …if you are a glutton for punishment, good on ya!

It should be noted that this year, the women's green and blue belts swept a division for the first time in team history. Which is also why the men are so afraid of the women on the team…And then there was Noah the trophy hog, who never got anything but 1st place? What can be said about Mark Littell? He is the only man who is stronger than an Ox and can scare anybody into giving him their lunch money. However, there is no one else the team would rather have in their corner. Nathan "Gunny" Fleischaker, our beloved team Captain…where would we be without your tireless effort and dedication to the team? Patience … Training … Character. Don't stop sharpening your sword!

SOFTBALL

The Navy Women's Softball Team battled tough opponents and adverse weather this season. Many of our spring season games were called due to the snow and then to the rain. Despite the lack of practices and games, we were able to pull from our fall season experience and bring our best game to the club sports Nationals at Virginia Tech.

Our team showed a lot of heart. We played eight games in three days - half the number of games we played the entire year. We played teams from all across the nation, and after a disappointing loss in the Championship Round, we still proved that we're the second best club team in the entire nation. Julia Feys captained the team this year and provided inspiration, motivation, and just a little bit of comedy. HOORAH NAVY SOFTBALL!

The Navy teams also proved their dominance at the Army-Navy Triathlon, where the men took five of the top ten spots, including first place by Timothy O'Donnell. CYCLING

High-speed pursuit, strategy, teamwork, balance, and endurance are but a few of the factors the cycling team deals with daily. Starting with a crazy mountain season and finishing with a tie for first place in conference championships, the cycling team is clearly the fastest it has been for the past three years. The men's B field really worked together and controlled the pack. In the B field, Navy had the three strongest riders in the Conference, Rondo Bauer, Aaron Schaub, and Kevin Sartain respectively. Our men's A riders came a long way from last year, as well, and dominated like the machines they are, with Matt Becker taking third in the Conference. Jean Hyde is officially the toughest rider after racing in conferences despite being hit by a truck a few weeks earlier. Navy cycling was unbelievably fast this year and I would venture to guess this is only the beginning. As the team would say, "welp… See ya later"...

WOMEN'S LACROSSE

The Navy Women's Lacrosse Team was founded in 1992 and since then has rose to dominance among club programs across the nation. This year during our fall season our team came together to prepare for the 2002-2003 season. We played five games, finishing with a record of 3 wins and 2 losses. The Spring is our main season and we open up at the South of the Border Tournament at UNC and Duke. After beginning our season on February 1st, we battled the elements for two weeks. The bad weather did not deter us from practicing. Rain, sleet, or blizzard, we practiced and practiced hard.

Throughout the season the Navy Women's Lacrosse Team earned the following honors: East Coast Women's Lacrosse Association (ECWLA) Division Champions, and placed 3rd in the nation at the US Lacrosse Intercollegiate Association National Tournament out of over 160 club teams in the nation. 1/c Jeanine Benjamin was named female Club Athlete of the Year. 2/c Natalie Fries was named Goalie of the Year by US Lacrosse's Intercollegiate Association. US Lacrosse Intercollegiate Association's All Americans for this year was: 1/c Jeanine Benjamin, 2/c Brenna Scharp, 2/c Natalie Fries, and 3/c Nicole Telesh. US Lacrosse Intercollegiate Association's National All-Tournament Team: 2/c Brenna Scharp and 4/c Elizabeth Holmes. The team success is due largely to the commitment and lacrosse expertise of the National Coach of the Year Moria Leavitt and by our Officer Rep LT Amanda Volpe (Captain of the team 1997). On behalf of Firstie Captains Jeanine Benjamin, Stacy Bierman, and Crystine Good, we would like to thank all the ladies on the team and our excellent coaches for a great season. Your commitment and positive attitudes allowed the team to be truly great and something we will always remember.

MEN'S CLUB LACROSSE

The spring 2003 season for Navy Club Lacrosse would introduce fresh talent, build upon existing leadership, and produce a team that would become a powerhouse in the NCLL. Navy's season would pit the team against some of the toughest teams in the league. From early season challengers such as Loyola, Maryland, and Penn State, to nail biting playoff games against West Virginia and Princeton, Navy answered with resolve and determination against its adversaries. The team leadership kept the team focused throughout the season while leading them to numerous victories. The team captains, Joey Rossiter, Joey Alfieri, and Andrew Watts provided excellent focus and drive as well as excellent play. The team depended on returning talent and consistent superior play from many of its First Class such as Brian Reitter, Arthur Macadams, Jay Agostinelli , Jimmy Dalo, and Paul Haberlein.

The younger talent of the team proved unmatched throughout the extent of the season. Upperclass PJ Perrot, Pat Drosinos, Sean Oneil, Steve Piacente, Jeff Griffin, and Rob Barry supported Navy's superior offense and defense capabilities.

New freshman talent Paul and Hayes Magnuson were a fine edition to Navy's 2003 team. The teams' goal in the beginning of the season was to arrive at the end National Champions. After many tedious games an intense playoff series, their goal became a reality. Navy won the NCLL National Championships beating Princeton in the final game. Their efforts and class in which they won was a tribute to Navy Athletics and a credit to the players and coaches of Navy Club Lax.

MEN'S VOLLEYBALL

The Navy Men's Volleyball team started out its year with more than a little uncertainty after losing 5 starters to graduation. However, the team was able to come together throughout the year and ended up finishing the season ranked 28th in the nation. Along the way, Navy battled its way through several tournaments defeating opponents up and down the east coast, and even as far away as Michigan. The season was highlighted by the complete destruction of West Point during the first meeting of the teams in a few years, and by a 1st place tournament finish at the University of Maryland, which is the first tournament victory in recent history for the team. The season was not all flowers and sunshine, it was also full of close losses that should have been victories, and a few other disheartening defeats. But with a team full of determined veterans and with a few new players in the mix, the Navy Men's Volleyball team showed its warrior spirit throughout the season and is looking foward to an even better season next year.

MEN'S CLUB SOCCER

Men's Navy Club Soccer elevated its program for the fall season of 2002, as it reached official club status, and took on an official team coach. Many thanks go out to past players and team leadership who set the path for this rising program. This year was packed with passion and technical play. After a slow start with several ties, the team came on strong. The Club Team had great showings in the Clemson Socctoberfest and University of Maryland tournaments. The season came to a close with a 5th place finish at Maryland after a several great wins on the turf and a tie against a very strong Penn State team. Charles Chambers and Jim Friedlein led the team as the president and vice president respectively. This was also the final year for Club Soccer's Officer Representative, Captain Campbell, USN. He has been an outstanding guide, mentor, and supporter for Navy Club Soccer during his time at the Naval Academy. On behalf of the departing seniors, HOST to Navy Club Soccer in future seasons!

WOMEN'S RUGBY

The 2002-2003 Navy women's rugby team had a strong fall season, with their only losses to top-ranked JMU and North Carolina. The team began their spring season with an untimely loss, mostly due to their lack of practice during the snowy winter. The team made a run at the nation in the Sweet 16 tournament, but unfortunately fell short. Navy's women also met Army on the rugby grounds this year for the first time ever in a B-side match.

Drum and Bugle Corps

Spring Semester Staff
Corps Commander: David Walter
Executive Officer: Matthew Starr
Operations Officer: Chris Radke
Supply Officer: Christina DiMaria
Administrations Officer: Pete Lesaca

The United States Naval Academy Drum and Bugle Corps, founded in 1914, is the oldest active drum and bugle corps in the nation. The Corps traces its beginning back to a small group of musically-talented midshipmen attending a baseball game between the Naval Academy and its neighbor, St. John's College. From that small group the USNA Drum and Bugle Corps has grown to around 100 strong and currently performs more than 200 times a year. From formations to football games, the Navy Drum and Bugle Corps is a major factor of support for the Brigade of Midshipmen.

Pipes and Drums

2003 Staff:
President: Craig Thedwall
Financial Officer: Mike Kinkel
Head Dancer: Erin McKenzie

The Pipes and Drums established a military pipe band as a component of the Brigade of Midshipmen. The Pipes and Drums consists of bagpipers, highland drummers and highland dancers. The primary mission of this pipe band is to field a performing band capable of providing highland musical support to the evolutions of the Brigade of Midshipmen, as well as the activities of the larger academy community (alumni and parents clubs), both on and off the Yard. In addition to providing a performing band, this BSA provides interested Midshipmen with musical instruction in bagpiping, highland drumming (snare, tenor and bass), and highland dancing.

Officers' Christian Fellowship

Officers' Christian Fellowship is one of the religious extracurricular activities offered to midshipmen at the U. S. Naval Academy to promote fellowship, encouragement, spiritual growth, and leadership. We are a non-denominational lay orginization with a vision for transforming the military for God's glory through ambassadors for Christ in uniform. OCF has local fellowships at over 200 military bases and contacts on Navy and Coast Guard ships.

The United States Naval Academy (USNA) Gospel Choir is an upbeat inspirational musical ensemble. Comprised of midshipmen from various places, races and creeds, the Gospel Choir is truly reflective of the diverse interests and ethnicities within the Brigade of Midshipmen. Their common bond is musical talent and a passion to praise God through song. Throughout the year, the USNA Gospel Choir maintains an active performance schedule. The Choir regularly performs at the Naval Academy for Sunday Chapel services, special conferences, and seasonal concerts. Other venues include: churches, schools, and community centers. The USNA Gospel Choir also conducts two annual tours during the Martin Luther King, Jr. Holiday weekend and Spring Break.

Navigators

Leadership Team: Eric Madonia, Mary Kane,
Jared Allen, Walt Reynolds, Christy Kercheval,
Matt Midura, Bryan Dearold

The Navigators are a ministry that was began in the 1930's with a man named Dawson Trotman ministering to US Navy sailors in California. It has since grown to a world-wide organization, built solidly on Christ, prayer, witnessing, fellowship, and The Word. Here at the Academy, "Navs" meets once a week to hear from the Word of God, join together in praise and worship music, and most importantly, meet and strengthen friendships. These relationships are foundational to one-to-one discipleship, which is the heartbeat of the Nav ministry. (2Tim 2:2).

Class of 2003

President: Dan Bailey
Vice-President: Dan Emmert
Treasurer: Noelle Navas
Secretary: Ricky Mui

The Class of 2003 Officers were voted into office at the end of their Plebe year by none other than their own classmates. The role of a Class Officer is to promote the cohesion and spirit of the Class of 2003 while at the Academy and after graduation. Class Officers organize various traditional Academy events, conduct fund-raising, represent, and adhere to any decisions that pertain to the Class of 2003 as a whole.

Class of 2004

President: Lincoln Lakich
Vice-President: James DeNicco
Treasurer: Joseph Zukowsky
Secretary: Andii Froistad

After being elected Plebe year, the officers of the Class of 2004 have been diligently working for their class. The Fall commitment dinner, signing "2 for 7", and the long awaited festivites at Ring Dance are just a few of the events this past year that have kept the class officers busy. Their job has been to help the Class of 2004 come together and prepare to lead the Brigade in their final year at the Academy.

MBSC 2002-2003

We are the organization formerly known as the Midshipmen Black Studies club. Our mission is to educate the Brigade of Midshipmen about the history and culture of African-Americans in order to instill cultural awareness and a sense of pride among all Midshipmen. Also, we seek to educate Midshipmen about their heritage, serve the African American Community, and recreate culturally.

Midshipmen Action Group

President: Adam Madson
Vice-President: Patrick Daly
Treasurer: Nick Yonnone, Nick Keller
Secretary: Elizabeth Gayer

The Midshipmen Action Group (MAG) began in 1992 with two second class midshipmen. Their goal for MAG was to get the Brigade of Midshipmen involved with organizations in the Annapolis area. Since 1992, the Midshipmen Action Group has organized hundreds of midshipmen efforts in reaching out to the greater Annapolis community. Directed, led, and vested by midshipmen, MAG incorporates all that is desirable in an officer of good character. Having organized over 150,000 hours of community service since it began in 1992 it continues to better itself every year. Last year MAG combined the voluntary efforts of the Brigade to produce over 20,000 hours of service to the greater Annapolis area.

Silent Drill Team

Commanding Officer: Jason Harris
Operations Officer: Carl Lepard
Weapons Officer: Charles Enderlin
Platoon Sergant: Eric Montgomery

The United States Naval Academy Silent Drill Team, "The Commandant's Own," was established in September of 1990 by a group of midshipmen. The Jolly Rogers' missions include performing at various Naval Academy sporting events and official ceremonies. They compete at invitational drill meets around the nation and represent the Naval Academy and the United States Navy in a wide variety of public appearances, to include local dress parades, and other special performances as dictated by the Commandant of Midshipmen. In recent years the 'Jolly Rogers' have performed at Disney's Epcot Center in Orlando, FL, the Fiesta Flambeau Parade in San Antonio, TX, Mardi Gras in New Orleans' French Quarter and many other special occasions by invitation.

International Ball Committee

Anthony Vespa, Heather Twiggs, Rob Zaborowski,
Travon Santerre, Yong Tan, Richard Baxter,
Kirk Prescott, Scott Miller, Dan Washington

The International Ball serves to recognize and honor the Naval Academy's international students, international officers and their spouses. Additionally it is the goal of the International Ball to promote international awareness among our future Naval and Marine Corps officers. It is an evening of social and cultural exchange between midshipmen and international guests. The International Ball provides an excellent opportunity for the midshipmen to use their foreign language abilities and to be acquanted with the traditions and etiquette of a formal ball. The guests include various diplomats, international students, and au pairs along with various international naval attaches. This year marked the 37th Annual International Ball under the leadership of Chairman 1/C Dan Washington and Officer Representative Capt. Matt Tune, USMC.

Team Bill

President: Brian Youngers
Vice-President: Patrick Nissen
Secretary: Ryan Curry

Team Bill is a Brigade Support Activity that cares for the Naval Academy goats and represents the Naval Academy at sporting events, naval ceremonies, and the other events in the Annapolis area. Midshipmen are selected for the team at the beginning of their youngster year by means of an interview process and soon afterward are indoctrinated into the team through a ceremonial cleaning of the goats. Team Bill is a proud tradition of the Naval Academy and hopes to continue this tradition well into the 21st century.

Latin-American Studies Club

President: Johann Guzman
Vice-President: Eldy Soto
Treasurer: Amber Coleman
Secretary: Pascal Gonzalez

The Latin American Studies Club (LASC) works to educate and expose the Brigade of Midshipmen to Latino culture, history, and current Latino issues. Often LASC has been known as merely a party ECA; this year however, without losing our ability to party, LASC took to the next level under the exceptional leadership of a hard working staff. Weekly dance lessons presentations (that included tasty foods) on the history and culture of Latin American countries, community service projects with local Latino children, conferences in Georgetown and Cornell, a combine dance party with MBSC and NSBE, and large participation in the I-Ball are among the many activities that LASC spreaheaded this year. Above all, I am most proud of the diversity of LASC, which this year included a record number of non-Latino members. This participation indicates that we are moving forward together as a whole society and not just as individual cultural or social groups in all differnt directions. LASC - One Loc, One People

WRNV 89.7 FM is the US Naval Academy's student run radio station. Midshipmen run and organize all aspects of operation. We are dedicated to bringing you great non-stop music. DJ's show run throughout the day, and we bring you great music with out commercials. You can tune into WRNV on 89.7 on your radio or by listening on NADN TV. As a Brigade Support Activity, we also provide music services for a variety of Academy events. We are available for including dances, pick nicks, and tailgate parties. The station is also provides for music at all home football games and various other home sports. This year we will also be broadcasting Navy Sports live from the game. Don't forget to tune in so you can follow your favorite Navy teams as they bring

BSAC

President: Catherine Besignano
Vice-President: Chris Lisk

The Brigade Social Affairs committee is responsible for planning and organizing concerts, dances, shows, and other social activities throughout the year. Their goal is to provide quality activites to midshipman in order to improve morale.

Tech Crew

President: Jason Kolligs
Vice-President: Kenny Greenfield
Treasurer: Rae Katz

A relatively new extracurricular activity. The Technical Production Crew is at the cornerstone for most of the Naval Academy's morale boosting events. This purely voluntary force produces light and electrical support for Pep Rallies, Plays, Musicals, Brigade Concerts, Tailgaters, and more. The members of Tek Cru are professional representatives to many of the celebrity acts that perform in Alumni Hall. I have been honored as the president for over two and a half years. I will miss the good times, but mostly the fantastic people. Good luck to the new leadership.

National Eagle Scout Association

President: Carlos Otero
Vice-President: Ryan Miller
Treasurer: Aaron Burciaga
Secretary: Rob Zaborowski
Operations: Aaron Kakiel
Quartermaster: Casey DeMunick

The United States Naval Academy National Eagle Scout Association (USNA-NESA) is composed of the more than 400 Eagle Scouts who aremembers of the Brigade of Midshipmen. These midshipmen are dedicated to continued service to the scouting community and the Annapolis community at large.

Campus Girl Scouts

President: Rebecca Baumez
Vice-President: Gabriela Johnson
Secretary: Leigh Wallace

Campus Girl Scouts is an organization for all midshipmen. Both men and women participate in our activities that reach the community and local Girl Scout Troops. This semester we went on a skiing trip, helped with art activities at a local juvenile detention center, hosted six troop visits around the yard, and taught firemaking, cooking, and survival at an encampment. Our members are dedicated to helping anyone in need and participating in activites that they have enjoyed throughout their life.

We are Midshipmen at the United States Naval Academy who serve our great nation but above all else serve our awesome God. We are committed to constantly seeking the face of God and giving him the glory for all that we accomplish. Our ambition for life is to know and follow hard after our Lord, as He leads us in all that we do. We are all very different people, even though we are all Midshipmen. Yet we share a strong common bond. We love Jesus Christ and we are obsessed with growing and living in the Lord. Furthermore, we are ready to devote ourselves to spreading the message of salvation to all those who need to hear.

Joy Bright Hancock Organization

President: Quincy Martin
Vice-President: Diana Roach

Historians have paid scant attention to the role of women in the American military. Today, women are an integral part of the armed forces; in the Navy, for instance, they attend the Naval Academy at Annapolis, serve aboard ships, fly aircraft, and rise to flag rank. Yet it has not always been so. Until after World War II the U.S. Navy had considered women's service as temporary or peripheral. When Congress passed legislation in 1948 allowing women permanent standing in the regular navy, it was largely because of the untiring efforts of one woman – Captain Joy Bright Hancock.

Flying Team

Captain: Michael McLean
Co-Captain: Bret Walther
Operations: Eric Scherrer

The mission of the Naval Academy Flying Squadron is to provide midshipmen with a means to gain practical flight experience in general and military aviation. The Flying Squadron consists of two components: the Squadron itself, which is open to all midshipmen interested in aviation, and the Flying Team, which involves midshipman with flight experience who train akin to a military squadron to compete regionally and nationally with collegiate flight teams from around the Nation such as the U.S. Air Force Academy, University of North Dakota and Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University. The Flying Team has won the Region X Title for the past four years, placed in the top ten overall at Nationals and earned the Most Improved School in the Nation award and Safety award.

Model United Nations

President: Kevin Yost
Vice-President: John Ahmuty
Treasurer: Justin Lucyk

The Model United Nations Club had a great year. Taking 36 members to Montreal by bus, MUN brought both a different point of view and the ability to see other's points. The club continued its tradition at McGill University of being well liked by both staff and students for their appearance and decorum. The club also started a new tradition, making connections at University of California, Berkeley, and attending the conference there for the first time as well as marking the farthest the club has ever travelled. The small team of 4 represented well, making many more connections and gaining an invitation to return.

Yard Patrol Squadron

Commodore: Mike Tozzi
Vice-Commodore: Andrew Kano
Pennant 1: Dan Singer
Pennant 2: Kevin McElroy
Pennant 3: Rod Jenkins
Training: Mark Jacobbi
Assistant Nav: Carole Lee

The Yard Patrol Power Squadron is composed of a group of midshipman whose purpose is to make the most of the Academy's fleet of YP's. The Power Squadron teaches seamanship, navigation, communications, and other professional skills, but most importantly, midshipman in the squadron learn confidence, presence, and assertiveness in a real-life ship handling situation. The squadron provides midshipman an enviornment to build leadership, teamwork, and military organization skills, which is ideal for any warfare community.

Trident Brass

President: Hugh Potts
Vice-President: Justin Jimenez
Treasurer: Scott Buerstatte
PAO: Victoria Tacconelli

Trident Brass is a jazz band composed of all midshipman. The band plays swing and big band music at various functions in support of the Brigade. The band plays at the International Ball, the Navy-St. John's Croquet match, and at several events during commissioning week.

Company

We are known as the Dirty Beaver Sharks, having been passed from company to company during our time here. To those who have made it, the journey has been long, but well worth it. We started off as almost 40 strangers, and today we are more than just friends; we are family. For four years we looked forward to graduating and leaving the bonds of midshipmen life behind, yet now as that is upon us, it seems too soon to say goodbye. As we go our separate ways, the memories we have forged together will always shine brightly, and remind us of both the best and worst of times that have made us who we are.

Brian Glen Carbaugh

Avon Lake, Ohio
Surface Warfare

Born in Minnesota in February of 1980, Brian Carbaugh was ready for what the world had to offer. After finishing grade school in Connecticut he moved to Cleveland Ohio. While in Cleveland he became interested in wrestling. After spending a year at Blair Academy he came to USNA and that is when the real fun started. A lame plebe year after choosing two superstar roommates, famous singer/ computer geek Bing Crosby and "Model Plebe" Hamilton, he found himself wanting more from life at the Academy. After turning 21 many doors where now open to him, especially DTA. He became good Buddy's with Mcgarvey, and they spent many nights together. When 1/C year finally came around he enjoyed building his design project, despite a quick loss to his arch enemy. He credited many of his brilliant ideas to tasty beverages served at the o-club. He is looking forward to expanding his horizons. If you want to catch up with him, I suggest first looking at your local O-Club.

Eternal Father, strong to save, Whose arm hath bound the restless wave, Who bidd'st the mighty ocean deep Its own appointed limits keep; Oh, hear us when we cry to Thee, For those in peril on the sea! Eternal Father, grant, we pray, To all Marines, both night and day, The courage, honor, strength, and skill Their land to serve, thy law fulfill; Be thou the shield forevermore From every peril to the Corps. Amen.

Casey Glenn DeMunck

USMC Ground

It is hard to describe the man who calls himself Casey DeMunck, but all told one word comes to mind… Marine. Yes from the early age of 0.1 years Casey could be seen brandishing a sidearm and k-bar yelling follow me or pass another MRE. He has changed very little and will enjoy his chosen career as a leader of devil dogs. You know that? When he wasn't hydrating from the scuttlebutt or canteen, Casey pursued scouting and brand name purchasing with equal passion. Hampered only by his abnormal body hair and unique gift for attracting women in uniform, he spent his weekends browsing outdoor stores and venturing through blizzards in the name of being hard. He will always be remembered for throwing poo, God-awful flatulence, and keeping the redneck tradition alive. At the Saint James we raise a glass of the cheapest whisky we could find and toast this fine young man. May he be all that he can be, but never an Army of one. To you Yeti. Semper Fidelis! MTPF – JAM Casey. Marine. An odd concoction of Chewbacca and Cousin It, Casey is the hairiest Marine I've ever known. Born to kill, raised to bark, and bred to sustain the tradition. The man makes Gunnery Sergeant Slaughter as giddy as a school girl. He is the epitome of Marine and gentleman. I've learned much from living with him. I will be proud to serve with him and I am privileged to call him a friend. YFP! –JSH

I am Kin Leong Ho, a foreign national who hails from the warm and friendly country of Singapore. I am deeply grateful to have the opportunity to spend the last four years at the Naval Academy and in the United States. I have learned and grown a lot from my experience here. Many of my wonderful experiences came from my summer training cruise at Bahrain, airborne training at Fort Benning and internships at NASA and Center for Strategic and International Studies. I was privileged to have been given the honor to serve the Brigade as the 2nd Regiment Executive Officer and later as Brigade Adjutant during the Fall semester. I majored in Systems Engineering and played varsity squash for Navy. I will be heading to Oxford University this fall to pursue my Masters in Information Engineering and hopefully continue to improve my squash game. I look forward to coming back as an alumni and looking at the Naval Academy from a different perspective.

Watching the transformation of Jerrod over the past four years. Recon on the seawall that caused you to do crutch workouts. Searching for Biohazards in your plebe year room. Almost dying on a slick turn near BWI youngster year because you can't drive your brother's truck in civies on a Friday afternoon. Saw the eunuch's wang! Meeting your Love in a hot LZ somewhere in the highlands of Quantico while trying to destroy the CRF. I still owe you a shot in the junk. Going from flaming second class to laid back, ihtfp, can't graduate soon enough in four weeks of firstie detail. You will make a fine Naval Officer, the Chief's mess will no doubt benefit from your coffee making ability. UFP-CGD*Hip two three four, we are motivated, I'm sailing, I'm sailing (overboard?), I'm tan and Detailing, Detailing (tired) I can keep going. Oh wait across the hall, coffee, from what's a mocha to 'a macchiato has this in it…'3-5s and a Jack? Ohhh wait, 4th street is all that counts. Scott-8. a.k.a. All Business Poitevent. Wolfpack kiss. The PBP. She gave him the Kung Fu grip. "What you get Scott?" "H job." Nice 7-11 shirt, Justin. Welcome to my world. Oh, the claims. "You pissed on my feet." "Hey Scott can we take your car?" "No, because you leave 'Stacey Pockets'." Sketchball Cable Company. Fratboy. "Go to Harrahs!" Let's see, never slayed (that's a shame). Always fighting guys at Third Edition. Kermit the Frog. He's a real Southern Bell. The Week of Scott. He was never allowed to bust without Jim's Hat on. Puke bags in your car (come on now, really, loosen up). Foxfield 1. Scott did you eat? Missing the train (GET OVER HERE). Small feet = ? (I'm sure it's not true). Bethany and her Kicking Busted on the couch (again). Towson (always f$%#@^* Towson). Plastic Chin. Lindsay. Broken ankle, but weren't you the punter? Yes, lonesome kicker. The claims. Hooters. Nice pony tail fag. Nice hunting jacket. Twin 80's. 'North Face Scott'. Monogrammed shirts. "Now, I'm gonna say she is a 10, but…" Elizabeth Hurley. It's all coming to a head. Bottomless Pockets. Very little play. So was Scott-8.

I came here after a good introduction to the Navy in a ROTC unit at the University of Arizona. The Naval Academy exceeded all expectations. I have enjoyed the excellent opportunties that this institution has given me, including going on exchange to West Point, getting to work with Midn Doug Raineault, Professor Nuckols, and LCDR Schoenwiesner on the Turtle project, and my time as the company training officer. I am looking forward to my next goal: earning the right to be an officer in the Special Operations community.

Solid comes to mind. You'd do absolutely anything for me...you'd let me know about it and bitch the whole way, but it'd get it done. I'll never forget the surf trips...OC, AI, OBX, Peru...B-day beatings, partying in B-more, Long Islands at St Johns. Then there's NARC...jackass labs, ripping on me back to the hall, and that god-awful fireboat…would someone shut that kid up?!...kegs, togas, cops, and 30 Au pairs... Off to be a jet jock and you're just cocky enough for it. You've been a hell of a friend and it's gonna be rough without you as my voice of reason. It was one crazy ride and one I won't forget -Ponch And SoCal's still representing, what of it!? A shout out for some of the boys left behind, we all know how some things just don't work out the way we planned, gotta spill some for the homies. It's been quite an adventure, USNA fun? Plebe year was a blur back on 3-4; SB stands out though. Party charter south to Jamaica. At the Grandiosa with MDM, hazards in Negril. Mando summer school 3/C year, A-town in July, trips to Ocean City. Living in the Gentlemen's loft as a youngster. Gave sailing a try. 2/C summer, another trip to Cali with KSB, best friend and travel partner. First visit to TX, everything really is bigger there. School starts: Treaty Tuesdays, chats in the HR. Trips to the shore, lake house in NH, skiing in VT. SB to England and Ireland with TVH and the Iron Duke. Calling card for the Queen Mum; forever banned from Salisbury. Irish Ferries, pilgrimage to St. James' Gate. Ring Dance: Capitol View, Sheer Madness, limo with bubbly, and trip on the seaworthy Pauline. 1/C summer, across the pond, room with the best view in Paris. Mussels in Brussels, biking through Amsterdam. 17th CC, carrying my weight at the best 'gaters in the Brigade. The infamous TO supposedly did half the work. Survived first marathon. Enjoyed the quasi-college life in DTA and beyond; many celebrations with libation creations. Future calling? Cruisin' south for SB, diving off Grand Cayman, monkey attacks in Honduras. Beach in Cozi (don't get no better…) Thanks to all, especially my tolerant roomies. Good times, great friends. Best is yet to come… KSB, TVH, MDM, KS

Detroit has produced some fine quality citizens, but none embody the blue collar work ethic, raw toughness, and patriarchal loyalty as the one and only Joseph William Doman. Never missing formation, class, meal, or an opportunity to train his subordinates, Joseph Doman will forever be known as the original "Joe Mid." However, this story of success did not go unmarred by your occassional setback. Heavy D had to battle his archnemisis, the YP Chimichanga, and ultimately failed by turning his athletic frame into a gelatinous slopbucket. Scarred by naysayers and foul nicknames he was mocked for his propensity to consume large amounts of bananas, sitting on porcelain thrones, and being extremely cheap. Despite being labeled Ape Boy and Commodore, S Boy prevailed. The climax of his career came when he was appointed to the high position of Batt ADEO. Through the Sun King's capacity to aid his friends in curbing their excessive consumption of alcohol, Joey Red Bull funneled and shotguned his friends to new levels of responsible drinking. Stockton, a true modern day Spartan warrior, will leave the Academy with an an unprecedented legacy of achievement. :Like it or not, it's like a fight to the top, just to see who will die for the spot, you put your life in this, nothing like surviving a shot, y'all know what time it is...-One Love, PDF, RBC, PIF, JMS

Charles "Chuck" Joseph "Endo" Enderlin, the Junior. With joyous shouts of "SirILoveThisPlaceIWannaBuyItSir!" the Naval Academy was invaded by a man determined to break three generations of family tradition and join the Marine Corps. The little Arkie that could survived random attacks from roommates, wild animals, four company officers and SEL's, the intimidating prowess of Plebe Summer Firstie year, and enough mud to keep a drycleaner in business for life. Hours of drill filled his spare time, and the world of Aeronautics soon consumed what little time he had left. Known as "The Narcoleptic" by the teachers and students in his major, Endo demonstrated the value and utility of learning by osmosis. Although the "learning" was questionable, he nonetheless escaped with a degree in Aerospace Engineering. Good luck in the Corps…Chuck is a man of many faces; funny, caring, witty, annoying, different, loud, obnoxious and sometimes weird. But no matter what, he's always there for you. Who can forget the prince, the princess, and the jester. We've cried together, we've laughed together, we've tried each other's patience. From English class to the first retreat, from Medjugorie to CMC, from the rumors and the countless jokes. From long talks to crying fits, from flaring tempers to unceasing tormenting; we've made countless memories over the years.

The Boston suburbanite,the blue magnet lover,the FUPA Fanatic,the Super Slayer,the list goes on.JoJo certainly left his mark on this place,the palace crew and especially"the usual suspects."He was always good for a laugh particularly at himself,he certainly taught us the finer points of self humiliation,then again he was never short on material except in the case of the SID,one Irish trait not dominated by the guinea in him.This Fecal Freak was the epitome of tact,if your idea of tact is the explosive and pungent ability to clear a room in mere seconds(world's largest source of natural gas)every word phrase and sentence both preceded and complemented with the F-word,or a raging Irish temper(causing him to spend the remaining minutes of his Navy Hockey career in the box,instead of whiffing a slap shot.But let's not forget Jojo's suave abilities with the ladies.His idea of game was making girls laugh at him by taking his shirt off ,then dropping them on the dance floor or finding ways never thought possible to make use of his well endowed nose;whats that smell?One things for certain, there was never a dull moment with this character.Whether it was spending thxsgiving morn in jail or giving the chink's mom an eye-full.But his ability to spill more beer than he drank was surpassed only by his ability to bring life to any party.We hope the Corps is ready for you!...JFM,JBW,JMK,CJM

From the halls of Montezuma, to the shores of Tripoli, We fight our country's battles in the air, on land and sea. First to fight for right and freedom, and to keep our honor clean; We are proud to claim the title United States Marines. Our flags unfurled to every breeze from dawn to setting sun. We have fought in every clime and place, where we could take our gun. From the snow of far off northern lands and in sunny tropic scenes, You will find us always on the job, The United States Marines. Hears to health to you and to our Corps which we are proud to serve. In many a strife we've fought for life and we've never lost our nerve. And if the Army Or the Navy ever look on heaven's scenes, they will find the streets are guarded by the United States Marines.

Huh? HUH?? Possibly the hottest guy we know. Mel taught us all a thing or two about fashion, friends of the family, and stealing just about anything. The mysterious one could be found honeymooning in Costa Rica, or maybe "hanging out with his roommates", when he wasn't half-cocked on the ice. This cocktail hour founder loved showing off his PT panties as he hollered, "DAMN, WOMAN!" to all the passing freshmen. HUH!! Although quite possibly the strangest game ever thrown, it proved successful on several occasions, winning Christopher useless numbers left and right, useless because Christopher was only calling 1 of 3 numbers depending on his mood: Mike's, Wade's, or Sumner's. Speaking of Mel's moods, they changed about as often as his apparel. There was no telling when he'd be happy wearing his jogging suit, aloof in his blaze orange, or PMSing in his assortment of hot coats. HUH!! Still, Klepto Chris was a true suspect from the start, bringing defensive strength to the hockey team, and an assortment of goods to the palace by way of the five-finger discount. And without Chris, a clear definition of the term "suspect" would be completely unfamiliar to his 4 brothers with whom he shares the term. HUH!! With love….. JMK, JCF, JFM, and JBW…..

Two words: "DA BOSS" That should be enough said, but oh there is so much more. Ever the philanthropist, Large was always overly kind with the ladies pampering them incessantly and unselfishly sometimes even at the expense of his health. His altruism cared over to other facets of his life, for where else can you find someone to play darts, tennis and bocce with and know that they will never beat you...but any contemptuous feeling were drowned away in a nice cold can of nattie light at the office, Sandy Poon, or the O-Club...best of luck in marriage and figuring our Japanese culture. Strength and Honor, JCF + JBW Pat was able to stumble across several billets during his stay at the Academy, to include the ever important role as O-Club commodore and the head groundskeeper at the League Office. So what if you didn't play your best game of Bocce at the Beer Olympics, at least you didn't boot all over Cremi's wall or show everyone some Christmas balls. Maybe someday the Browns will return to their glory, or is it the Ravens? I lost track. Anyways Pat, you've been a great friend throughout the years. Estonia, where's that again? Joining us from sunny Tartu, Karl came to the NA with a bald head, bad attitude ("Let the bodies hit the floor!"), and a "get out of everything because I am a foreigner" card. His English comprehension was also quite conditional (mostly movie quotes, Austin Powers, FMJ or 007), still better than JCF. Plebe Summer - odd sleeping habits. Despite his Army past, he was quick to pick up on the classical Midn traits of laziness and complaining. 3/C and 2/C years - long periods of computer hacking, intramural sports, brief hours of academic effort and travels around the US during leave. Going out with Wotsername? 1/C year - the infamous training officer (17, especially '06 will not forget him as long as they live) and academic pursuits. Three places to find him: Nimitz, room, Sean Donlon. Always pushing himself, getting the job done. Bringing the fun side out of any situation, we're going to miss that. Great friend, listener, beer buddy (singer??) Thanks for making the days go by easier. Have fun at TBS and IOC. We take comfort in knowing that he won't forget all the mannerisms (speaking Gunny) and other "thingies" we have corrupted him with for the past four years. From the austere cornfields of Indiana, we stumbled upon Mr. Domestic. His genial personality inhibits us from referring to him as a man since there are few, if any, collegiate males who derive as much pleasure in cleaning, cooking, going on long, romantic walks, and taking girls on picnics. If that is not embarrassing enough, this swimmer enjoys dressing up like a ferocious pussycat and goes on Spring Break to find comfort in the arms of a special female who lived a mere three doors down. Never the one to assume the dominating role, pussyface frequently found himself the victim of numerous sexual assaults to the tone of "I'm going to take you home, pour champagne on you and lick it off." Ladies, don't let his innocent façade fool you. He's more than willing to break up your marriage or pleasure you anytime of the month…no really, anytime! Nonetheless, none of these escapades brought him the pleasure that he derives from the uniformed female. Despite all these accomplishments, he has had his fair share of misfortune. Apparently, kindness and acts of good will only get you a date with a three star, which provided him with more than enough reason to take out his aggression on Bri Guy's phone. As we search for a captivating ending, we realize that that just wouldn't be fitting for this anti-climatic storyteller….Yeah!!! Love always, JCF, JFM, JMK, + CJM…

On an early July morning during the summer of 1999 over 34 people came together in the humid Annapolis weather to begin a time honored rite of passage.

By now the people and events that transpired during our time, may have faded into the dark recesses of memory, but for a select few, the progression from smelly plebes to hardened Midshipmen has stayed vividly etched in our very souls. This story belongs to the Midshipmen of 18th Company….

November company began with two distinct platoons the greater and much more intelligent being 26th platoon. This was evident by the great amount of "Thinking Time," received on a daily basis. Like lemmings running over the cliffs we followed our detailers into reform and the adventure continued into the evil world of Big Red.

During the first year we saw the end of the 8th wing players, as well as "our academy careers flashing before our eyes." Many were helped with the leadership of LT Veal, and the sea trials poster boy R Garner. But alas, all things come to and end and the plebes of form 26 were moved to the unlucky halls of 13th company.

As newly liberated plebes, instantly greeted by the inability to use the Wardroom, other forms of entertainment were discovered such as flying Halloween pumpkins, the Mate Mobile, the running of the Army Navy football, S. Cuomo's remedial PT, the first Christmas Spectacular, flaming phonebooks, and the hopes of not getting voted off the 7th wing island for Youngster survivor. All under the watchful eye of La Resistance.

After many of us had the opportunity of taking two years of pent-up raged out against the plebes we moved yet again, this time off of the desolate island to 18th Company. Second class year brought us even more entertainment as the "Adobe" was created as a place of merryment and cheer. The plebes feared the wrath of "Fischerman's Warf," and members of our company got even closer....maybe too close. We were a giving company as 18th company over ran Project Big. Many company members found a a home as members of the "late night wardroom crew." Let us not forget Ring Dance, a pivital event that was almost washed away by the rain as our memories were washed away by the drink, and as the drink ran out so then did our third year.

After returning from a summer of being eaten alive by ticks and floating on the seven seas we returned to the same company with a new company officer, our fourth and by far most influential. By now we all had developed and changed, those who were once ordinary kids from across America, now became the likes of "the Green Girrafe," "the Wild Turkey," "the Polar Bear," "the Badger," "the Squirrel," and "the Sea Turtle." The Company was fed by Uncle Rog's Country Store. It was proven that not everything in New Jersey is bad, as all were welcome to a pre Army Navy bash, and many came close to not making the game at all.

When thinking of the Midshipmen of 18th Company, it is without doubt that these champions will go on and success will follow, they will become true leader's leaders, and in the process fabricate the world in their image. Remember to stay in touch, to repay "ten fold!" to those that do you wrong and always remember...... "IT WAS ME!!!"

This may have been the longest & certainly strangest 4 (5) years of my life. Mom, Dad, Jack & the fam…I couldn't have done it w/o your amazing support. Lisa – sorry I abandoned you after all we've been thru, from Squad 1-1 to ship selection, 6324 to Ring Dance, cheerleading, shopping & just being friends. Dora… where to begin? Sex ed, maybe? Or how about a Happy Hour lesson? That's not even the half of it! Crys – so maybe we're still such good friends b/c we never lived together? Thanks for our weekend civies escapes & Dora's b-day party youngster year…so much came from 1 night. Sara – my sanity check & partner in crime…rainy liberty dinners, rantings in the room, the Bahamas, B-more after ship selection & the list goes on! You & Jill have been such great roommies & helped me thru the worst of it. I can't thank y'all enough for everything you've done & been. My DZ sisters, esp. Jess, Chrissy & the Md. Ladies…you never know how much sisterhood means until you live w/ so many men. Dan, Tobe, Mike, Vince & everyone else…y'all made sure I laughed some over the past 4 years, even at myself. You certainly made this place better. So many people believed in me when I didn't believe in myself. For that, I thank you. I finally got there. Y'all knew I could do it the whole time & told me so…looks like I was the last to catch on. USMC, here I come…are you ready?

Once upon a time, three million years ago the Callahan family tree was planted as Caveman Callahan crawled from the sea with his perfectly preserved prehistoric form. He was spawned by a Cuban "prostitute" and a Monkey-man. After his destroying his Amish competition through his childhood on the football field, he brought his game to the Naval Academy. After his first two years of being the quintessential "Joe Mid," he was corrupted by the Green Giraffe. The climax of Warchild's corruption came as he realized his "Best Buy" fantasies with the one-legged cousin of his best friend. Luckily he abandoned his Cuban tradition and did not offer a tip after it was over. As he strove for a love-life free of monetary concerns he suffered a crushing blow after being chumped despite his karaoke serenades. This story does however have a happy ending as Mad dog was able to emerge from the grips of "second-class rog" syndrome as he rededicated himself to perfection. In all seriousness, Roger is one of the best people and friends that any of us have been privileged to know. To all the times that we have shared and all the many more that we will in the future…One Love PDF, PIF, CDL, JWD, TG, KS, ED, PB, EW Emmert, the Slops-O, Sloperations, Sloppy, SleepSloppyT...To you we owe our sanity, but also our griefs. We thank you for your humor, but lament the day when ten-fold strikes us. The hall and all those within will be less without you, but they are already more than they were before Emmert. Like a medieval knight of sloth you strode in to their hearts. Never will we forget your valor. You are the role model of many developing minds. Scary to think, should not they have met with your intervention, they might have been perfectly normal well adjusted young men. Now, thank God, their sense of reality is twisted, and they realize that yes...the world is out to get them. Through the power of apathy, you have changed the course of many lives. At the same time showing hard work and determination in the fight to win respect for La Resistance. May God bless you and keep you and find a woman of ample proportions and patience for you. And that, friends, is the most ridiculous Item of the Day...name and town, name and town, name and town, if you wish to opine.

Quatrafoil Fisher, it's a God-given miracle that we even have to write a bio for you. Because of this we thought that we would leave you with either an obituary or a list of life lessons. No obituary for its morbidity(I mean, what if you really do die) and went with the advice so you can avoid a self-inflicted death of stupidity for a couple more years.1st of all a squirrel can definitely manhandle a giraffe. Do the words Big Red mean anything to you(Cancun)? Yes it is a good idea to run as fast as you can calling for help on your phone if a fight breaks out at a frat house. Watch out for faulty holders on keg stands. Two Words, Adobe anarchy. When you are called a P, it does not mean do whatever they want you to do. Teufelhunden Fisher, The Battle of the Brownie does not exist. It is a mythical event. Also, "Rawness" is a figment of your imagination. Breaking glass bottles on your head-not a good idea. Do not bong Everclear+fruit punch, beer/tequila amalgamation or any doughboy concoction. Bonfires at UMD..can be a good idea(FIST!!) Yes, you are a P. DC metro system + garbage + inauguration night-not a good idea. Heed all tornado and hurricane warnings. Marine Corps Fisher, the only thing more dangerous than SARS is BUW fever. Beware of em and Uranus. Farewell, handball mvp(in more ways than one) WE were, WE are, WE always will be.One love-RBC JNS PIF JWD

Fighting Fischer, Doman, Joel, Cam, Peacer, Stann, …and the list goes on. And the Fischer bouts are classics but always one-sided(adobe, chair, double fish hook, keg stand, throwing the cat at him, blood and sand in Daytona, Ice Rink…etc) Hooking up anywhere and everywhere (although the game is slipping) While the ladies came easy, waking you up from your snoring slumber never was. Breaking every rule and never getting caught even though you were Sr. Chief's favorite. Preakness- first time… kicked out thrice, second time no one knows, especially you. Joshua Hawkes was dedicated to academy improvement. He began his crusade to clean up the academy his plebe year by awarding the outstanding plebe room redecoration award. Unfortunately, this program was restricted soon after the first award and he had to rethink his efforts over thanksgiving break. The following years Josh played a large role in the process of de-cluttering the academy. He was diligent in disposing of discarded items lying around the locker rooms, and there was none other more steadfast than he in his crusade to rid the academy of it's unwanted books and antiquated software. He often aided in the cleanliness of King Hall by taking unwanted food, and his classmates knew if they needed to sell anything from a Camel-back to Simpsons dolls he could be depended upon to dispose of them in the most profitable manner. When he wasn't improving the academy with performance incentives or prowling the locker rooms he could be found working on his professional knowledge by studing medevil military tactics with his roomates through the computer simulation Age of Empires. Josh barely took a break from his tasks, in fact he could rarely be found at social events such as football games or graduations other than his own.

The Jerk, DotCommer, Kommer, m033720, these are the many words used to refer to the man born as ERIC MORGAN KOMMER. Since his early days growing up in the suburbs surrounding the City of Steel, E.M. Kommer's path has been an unusual one. However destiny eventually brought a young an inquisitive Kommer from Pittsburgh past the Mason Dixon line into sunny Annapolis MD, and throughout your 4 years in Annapolis you probably have seen him in all his grandeur. Whether it be determining the maximum fuel efficiency for his trips to Maryland, rummaging the thrift store with Sloppy, or harassing any who dare take a afternoon nap, his ability to appear from nowhere and vanish all without being noticed, has become as legendary as his commonly uttered "humph?" And although his presence at the academy has been scarce during his 1/C year, his constant tinkering such as "operation cool air," have shown the ingenuity and lack of successes not seen since a certain Coyote's attempts to catch the damn roadrunner. In the end I leave you with some immortal words from the great philosopher and Gentleman H.J. Simpson, that simply illustrate the true Nature of Man . . . "Weaseling out of things is important to learn. It's what separates us from the animals... except the weasel." See you all at the Cabin.

Look in to the eyes of Steven Wade Mason and you will see more than just your reflection, but rather the drive equal to that of an angry Squirrel who has seen you steal his last acorn. A pioneer of such events as the BS Log, USNA I-Opener craze and the 2002 Geo Prizm give away, his intelligence and asymmetrical thinking are unequaled. For, example who else would see the benefits of driving his roommates car over 30 minutes without disengaging the parking break, training and motivating a drag to march in a full dress parade and then have him puke on the E-Course the following morning, or sleeping only during the daylight hours. The ineptus of the Comp-Sci shield, Mason's pioneering spirit has often baffeled his peers. A man of refined tastes such as Sobe with fish crackers, and gourmet cat treats is yet another subtle insight to this great man's complex nature. The only unanswered question is why does he go out gate three so much? Section 8…it feels great.

GOBBLE GOBBLE It is a great honor to be presented with the opportunity to inform you of a man who is so far ahead of this evolutionary process that the homo sapien race will take a thousand years to finally catch up. After four years fellow mids have had numerous opportunities to view this mans extraordinary abilities to make the supernatural seem natural. All things being equal, there are not enough guns in the world for the amount of slaying this man intends to do. Beware the wild turkey my friends. For lo, in the distance I spy him wobbling hither. His gobble is loud, but his bite is even worse. No bar maiden can withstand his wrath. And woe to the beer wench who fails to fill his mug with the frosty brew in a timely manner. For this man waits for no beer. In one swift step he will climb your bar in a most impetuous manner, mount the tap and claim it as his own. Fear him, but never let it show. You could always be counted on to be the DD, no wait, you could always be counted on the put down some wild turkey and then open up your tab to anyone including strange women. To my shipmates, and those I leave behind. Here at Canoe U I've had many great memories, as well as many bad memories. I'd like to come clean, and share with you the secrets I have held in my heart. In my opinion there is no person in the Brigade that deserves the Black N than myself. During both semesters of my Firstie Year, I have done the following: UA classes (+30 times), UA Practice/Parades (6 times), UA touch and go after taps (5 times), UA Home football games (4 times), UA formations (too many to count!). I know those that know me are shocked at this point. Now having done all that, I only received 10 demerits, and was awarded 5 tours during Firstie Year. I've only received 10 demerits before Youngster Year. I can admit this now, only because I know that by the time this gets published, I'll be out at sea, and what are they going to do? Fry me? I love you Holly Shipley. And meeting you by far have been the most memorable experience in my 4 years in Annapolis. Trock Hailing from Metuchen NJ Young Dave was a friend to all, or at very least a ticket into the New Jersey Tailgaters. In the dark hours of plebe year he collected a bountiful supply of movies from which he provided countless hours of film entertainment to his fellow plebes and upperclass alike. The hallways of Bancroft still echo with the sounds of the late night battles that raged between brethren in the digital realm. These sounds are accompanied by a shadowy ghost that glides and rolls through the halls with spinning red lights. The echo of announcements ring through the T since after he eagerly assumed the role as company adjutant, and refusing to use email, he instead opted to make his watch announcements daily, at morning formations. But fair Dave was a true host. He filled our cups with wine and our bellies with food. He roasted the family pig on our behalf and filled overflowed our cups with drink the night before the slaughter. Yes he will be missed by his comrades from La Resistance, but they will not forget his name and will call on him again whenever they are in need of him to battle the Blue Screen of Death, because…..In Bancroft Hall no one can hear you Scream!!!

Eternal Father, strong to save, Whose arm hath bound the restless wave,
Who bidd'st the mighty ocean deep, Its own appointed limits keep,
Oh hear us when we cry to thee, For those in peril on the sea!

Lord, guard and guide the men who fly, Through the great spaces in the sky.
Be with them always in the air, In darkening storms or sunlight fair.
Oh hear us when we lift our prayer, For those in peril in the air!

Eternal Father, grant, we pray, To all Marines, both night and day,
The courage, honor, strength, and skill, Their land to serve, thy law fulfill;
Be thou the shield forevermore, From every peril to the Corps.

Lord God, our power evermore, Whose arm doth reach the ocean floor,
Dive with our mean beneath the sea; Traverse the depths protectively.
O hear us when we pray, and keep, Them safe from peril in the deep.

DEVINeity (adj): 1. the state of experiencing of the plight of the common man without the luxuries of rationality, sanity, and just plain normalness, all while driving a really small car. 2. a state of being confused as to whether you are "johnny" or a "mid". 3. the state of expressing oneself in a fashion that is resembling of no current or previous fashion era...ever. -PD Anyone can take the Johnies' money, liquor, and women, but you and I have the unique gift of doing it and having them invite us back for more. -PM Whip It, Devo! The one person in the world I could never out obscure. Four years of Devin shirts, Teddy Bears' picnic, margaritas, the baby (when's it due?) and your weekly trips to the Hot Topic bargain bin. And I'm still trying to forget crashing the sailboat into the seawall, "routine" maintenance on the Capri and our battles with The Captain and Jose. 60 Chicken Wings?…well, 50 is an accomplishment, I guess. Four years by the bay over already. It doesn't seem like it was that long ago that I was getting braced up on a bulkhead by Mr. Greene. To all my classmates who endured the journey from Cloud Nine to the Twelfth Reich to Free Nineteen and still remember when Tecumseh looked cool for football games (BZ Becky), it's been tons of fun. I'll miss you guys. I've realized just how much this past semester while I played civilian and attended "real college" when I wasn't hunting down Martha Blair with admin stuff. Natty poo- the past 3 yrs as roomies have been interesting to say the least. You've always been there when I needed you. Thanks for being one of my best friends. Vicky- 3 yrs together with crew, the ergs, morning workouts, and coach. Were we crazy? I-Ball(x2), thanks JB, BP, KB, MK. MK- Thanks for inspiring me with a love of swing dancing. To those on cruise in the Med 2/c year, YP cruise, and the Nimitz, to those in my classes, or friends I've made in passing, thanks for the memories. Ames: you will forever be the Mad Bomber, striking when least expected and not only on your most random shots into our trash can...you are perhaps the smartest person I know and definitely a lot smarter than many engineers...the past three years have been full of ups and downs but I would not change them for someone else. Dirty. Timmy! If we lived together any longer we'd need a common-law divorce. We've been through a lot… If you weren't such a good Christian boy we'd all have to question half of everything that comes out of your mouth. You know more dirt about me than my priest. "Wife? He's my B_" Have you started practicing those tele-turns yet? You've got less time than I do. Who's going to have a wise comment for everything I say now? God Bless, CW. Later, Daniel Timothy. Timmy, you are the most honest and tricky person I know… brutally at times. Hard to believe even Dirty has limits on what he will say. Good friends are hard to come by, but you have been one, thank-you, DC. One of the few people who does his job, no matter how much everybody hated it, "2", PWC/POW. Dirty, Dirty, Dirty… its hard to believe that the person who gave you that name did not even know how sick you are. You've always been able to bring up the right story to ruin whatever trouble I was trying to get myself into. Thanks for being a true friend, Dougie, DS. From the quiet ride home, to Philly, to New York and Toys R' Us, we've created memories that'll last forever. Always an adventure! To the best friend a person could ever have. Love always.-Susan. Pabs, a name that typified his warm affection to all he came in contact with. Calm and astute, his respect for all people assures him diplomatic ease in any situation.-Mike. That crazy Guamian, street hockey MIP, and one heck of a Frisbee thrower. Let's take the girls out to pizza and bowling. Wacky times with a wackier 80s soundtrack. They were all fun except for the incessant running. You are one of my best friends and always remember, DECENT!-Devin. The prince, the princess, and the jester. He's proper, polite and has a plethora of sweaters. We've had our ups and downs over the years but we came out on top. From CMC to my house, from annoyances to tears, we've made many memories.-Pam. I'm gonna steal your food 'til the day I die! You're one of the most kind persons I have ever met. You're always there to cheer me up and remind me of how absurd life (at least mine) really is.-Doug. The Prince of Guam. What more needs to be said? He's my brother, just from a different mother and father. The almost Siamese bond that we've shared has carried us through thick and thin, but mainly "lumpy".-Chuck.

What a trip it's been. The years flew by but we had good times. Couldn't have asked for a better roommate or closer friend. Green will fit better than you can possibly imagine. How else could the team stay together? You keep me out of trouble & I threaten you into action BEFORE she has to grab your butt. I never thought the Corps could get any better until I found out you would be in it with me. The Brotherhood is something we'll have forever. You may have some serious dirt on me, but I also have some on you. "Don't touch me!"-"Pull over!!" Close one there. tangerinespeedo, what the hell is that, anyway? You owe me for going to Europe & only returning with pictures of goats. I do owe you for the missing swordsman pics. We'll see when/how those turn up. Good job with the girls, very happy to see that. Strange how I can be a good & bad influence at the same time. It would be nice to have you ground-poundin' with me, but whatever you do, you'll be a great officer, & above all, a Marine. See you in Valhalla. Semper Fi.-JAR You caused more pain in my life than any other person; tri's, marathons… But then I did drag you through the 1-man hotel in Nagasaki, 10 people in a condo for 2 in Tremblant & countless head butts. O3_minshew_pat. The man based on the myth based on the legend. You are tall. The man no one would ever rob. Doomed to be roommates plebe summer, we foolishly teamed up for another three years. The record of your ridiculous charades would surely sink Nimitz. Youngster year you gave up crew for track, and then track for boxing. True, that sport fixed the bend in your nose, but it wasn't powerful enough to overcome your short attention span. You've influenced more people here than you have even met and that is a tremendous accomplishment. You realize that fitreps, grades, form-2s, MIDPERFs, MAPRs, restriction, tours, demerits, have absolutely no reflection on a person's moral worth. Other than that, you are in the polar bear surfing club, from the most defined plebe on the crew team to the studliest NFO to graduate, I'm glad that you never wavered in your decision to stay here...But your legacy was not only in your actions, but in your selfless willingness to go out on a limb for anyone. From Sacramento to Lemoore to Disneyland to West Palm Beach to Orlando to Jamaica, NY, we've been through a lot together. Your penchant for worthless/unattractive women was simply amazing, but don't ever let anyone but me tell you how to live your life. Ending your four years with Club 150 fitted you perfectly. -AP, JK, MH, IK, NB and the rest of the shadies

Some great memories and fun times blur out any of the bad ones. I would like to say that you can be my wingman, anytime, but I will never be a pilot. A cowboy at heart, and a huge heart in a cowboy. Spent many a night just talking, never could have asked for a better friend to spend my last four years. Remember, you will always be my first wife as your grandpa says...TDD 4 yrs together @ the Naval Academy: We never got "paid", we thought engineering would be cool, then we picked the community with the longest commitment. Well, at least we'll finally be paid to do two cool things: fly planes and chase women (Or at least I will). Oh, by the way, what size are your pants? Sure you won't need 'em anymore...PWLC Four years by the bay and by they have gone. I couldn't have made it without the support of my family and those who have been closest to me the last four: Dirty, Lucky, and other company mates. I thank you all. God has blessed me by way of being here friendships and a relationship that could only be answered prayers. Truly, a good Shepard does find His lost sheep. "The journey is the thing" God be with you all on the one you embark.

Sir, the mission of the United States Naval Academy is: to develop midshipmen morally, mentally and physically and to imbue them with the highest ideals of duty, honor and loyalty in order to provide graduates who are dedicated to a career of naval service and have potential for future development in mind and character to assume the highest responsibilities of command, citizenship and government, sir.

My roommate for 1/2 of the time. We made it through this place with some good times: failing bravos, surprise alphas, hunting in WI and TX, the 1/2-ironman, driving a corvair to WI, detail, Ring Dance. Someday I'll run as fast as you. I reckon you'll make a good Marine, good luck and take care of yourself. God bless.-ACS. I used to think you were normal until you tried to make me eat ice cream in 20-deg weather. Now you're just Superman. You've somehow managed to do everything I do, just a whole lot better (except the snowboarding). 3 spring breaks and a senior project, its been a great 4 years. You've always been there to give me a kick when I needed it.-DS From the days of Spinelli and Chapin, you have been a great friend. Thanks for the extra cot in your room, getting off the freeway in the rain (I know you wanted to go camping), for being the perfect ring dance date, sharing your sponsors, for all the runs and chats. Thanks for being one of the best guys I know.-Love, Becky. Man, we went everywhere together. CA, CO, Italy, Canada. Done some good drinkin': Vodka on the cliffs in San Diego, tequila in CO (don't forget the altitude rule!), rum in Canada. There's plenty of fun still to be had, so I'm looking forward to hoisting a few with you throughout life. To the man who knows what cold really is, I don't care! Here's to ground-pounding! Eternal Father, strong to save, Whose arm hath bound the restless wave,
Who bidd'st the mighty ocean deep, Its own appointed limits keep,
Oh hear us when we cry to thee, For those in peril on the sea!

Lord, guard and guide the men who fly, Through the great spaces in the sky.
Be with them always in the air, In darkening storms or sunlight fair.
Oh hear us when we lift our prayer, For those in peril in the air!

Eternal Father, grant, we pray, To all Marines, both night and day,
The courage, honor, strength, and skill, Their land to serve, thy law fulfill;
Be thou the shield forevermore, From every peril to the Corps.

Dive with our mean beneath the sea; Traverse the depths protectively.
O hear us when we pray, and keep, Them safe from peril in the deep.

Huh?! What? Write a Bio?Are you Kidding?All right. How about this: I imagine that 100 years from now some kid will be rummaging around in his grandfather's attic. That kid will come across this dusty old book and happen to open to this page. I just want to say to that youngster "Go through your history books and read about a man named Joe Dirt. He truly defined a generation." Anyway, back to the present. If anyone finds a briefcase with holes drilled in it, filled with rocks, at the bottom of Narragansett Bay…it isn't mine. Special thanks to the people who got me through this place like the org, "righty," Uncle Beam, E-sauce/the #1 fan/various other hooligans, BM, DMB, ES, JG, TB, LL, MS, BA, MR, NN, JP, KN, and WR. Huh?! What? Someone else is supposed to write this bio!?! How about BR? Nope. Too busy writing checks his body can't cash. How about ER? Thanks but I'd like to limit this to 1 "y'all" SD, AL, or KD?-"Dave, you exemplify the word midshipman. You are the wind beneath our wings." Thanks guys, but I can handle it. I'm an uncompromising control fanatic anyway. Being the company tennis champion isn't easy. Too late LL, it's in the book! Remember? (For when we can't anymore) self admitted ourselves into the fort, or Frisbee while eating ice cream over at the park? What about the Brent and Dave Show? Stay tuned, we'll be back! take 'er easy. Jon McKeown Kalscheuer, ADEO, Jr., XO - Never again will Annapolis see a man more happy to be who he is - A Minnesotan Physicist Submariner with a penchant for long runs and small canines (or was it the other way around?) But wouldn't it be cooler if everyone was like him? Looked like a 12-year-old on I-Day, and has grown over four years into a globe-trotting, hard-partying ("It's been 3 Bud Lights and he's hugging people again..."), skirt-chasing, young stud... and still doesn't look a day past 13... Charming the women with his boyish good looks ("I didn't know she had a little brother..?") from coast to coast, maybe one day he'll realize his full potential and slay his unicorn, or perhaps engage in an hours-long card game in the wee small hours for final bragging rights... But for the moment he'll content himself with kicked trash cans, thrown covers, and a Texas happy hour table full of drinks... If you're ever looking for a good friend and a good time, check the cabin, the physics lab, the Navy ticket office, the rack, or somewhere along the outer perimeter of the Yard- he'll be the guy with the Twin's hat...

Special Operations

Though I once spent a week in Tijuana, I'm not Mexican. I just want to make that clear before anyone asks me how the Baja peninsula is this time of year. I am 648 years old and was carved out of a redwood tree by monks in Georgia, where I lived for most of my life. Not the former Soviet country, but the state directly below South Carolina, deep in the Dirty South. My high school wrestling coach was from this monastery place, where everyone was all celibate like their fathers before them and their fathers before them. I always went to Waffle House or Taco Bell after practice, and even though I'm not Mexican I really appreciate what they can do with tacos. I love tacos. I also enjoy tennis, tea brewed from teabags, and the Mons. This one time me and some guys were going to get tacos, but everything was closed, so we ended up going to the beach and burying this dude named Wagner in the sand. I think that was the night I realized how much I wanted to be in the Navy. Later this dude at the recruiting office said I could be in the Navy and get rid of mines and wrestle some too. So I applied to the academy and I'm completely going EOD now. While at USNA I spent most of my time sleeping or as a no limit soldier in the fine cities of Dundalk and Rosedale. I'm headed for Florida, and while there aren't a lot of Aztec tree gods there, there are a lot of Mexicans and tacos.

Kevin Michael McElroy

Tampa, Florida

Navy NFO

Kevin was born in Annapolis, MD on December 27th 1980. At the age of six his family moved to Tampa, FL. For reasons beyond comprehension he decided to return to Annapolis upon completing High School. Kevin arrived at USNA on July 1st, 1999 to join the plebe class of 2003. Having his sights set on the aviation community since his days in Tampa Bay, Kevin worked towards that goal even before he received his appointment. He often practiced playing beach volleyball in his jeans and writing checks with his ego that his body could not cash. As a Midn at the Naval Academy it quickly became apparent the he was 'dangerous'. Not wanting to 'loose the edge' Kevin continued striving for his goal on and off the Yard. As a member a YP power squadron Kevin had no idea what he was doing there, but he did not think about it too much because, according to him, "you can't think when you are going 1800 rpm, you think and you die". When driving through the streets of Annapolis he would make jet sounds and randomly hit the brakes to let bogeys fly right by. Having been selected to NFO training, Kevin achieved his goal becoming part of the Naval Aviation community. He is looking forward to starting flight school and we are sure that he is moderately aware that actual planes are involved. over, honor over all.

"Grandpa" Doug Raineault came to the Naval Academy from Connecticut, by way of England. His previous experience at college as a freshman at Boston University served him well, as he hardly ever had to do schoolwork plebe year, or for the other three years for that matter. This left him with plenty of time to lie in the rack and read obscure works of literature. He couldn't always relax, though. The wise man stayed off deck whenever Doug was on watch, to avoid everything from computer-confiscating USMC captains to crazed, buffer-wielding EPES workers. Off duty, Doug was always up for a good time, whether it be hiding in the bone locker during plebe year or running the bilge pump with a few shipmates. On liberty (when he deigned to take it) he was always willing to stand drinks for his shipmates. Doug spent 4 years at the Academy as a true SWOtivator, experiencing the good and the bad: The world's best 2/C cruise as well as the worst SWO cruise ever on "the worst ship in the Navy." Surface line until the end, it was no surprise when Doug selected SWO, and while the ship he picked was certainly appropriate, his homeport was a bit of a surprise. All who know him will agree that Doug Raineault is a good shipmate and a true friend. His professionalism and character will ensure him a successful career in the Surface Navy. Dan always amazed everyone with his dedication to the Marine Corps. From being the plebe that came out with his shorts on backwards and "forgot" the insignia of a Gunnery Sergeant during the Regimental rates competition Dan has become a Marine's Marine. When he started hoarding MRE's and talking about how good they tasted it was official. Two summers spent in Asia taught him the mysteries of the orient and took the innocent young midshipman and made him into a salty old China Hand. Dan has probably read more books than anyone who ever selected Marine Corps ground or anyone else for that matter. Dan was always ready for an adventure no matter how ill advised. From jumping in the Severn the night before the Army Navy game to drinking the toxic Habusake he was always leading the way. Karaoke anyone? Hard work during the critical last minute study sessions-punctuated by games of minesweeper-kept him at the Academy and out of La Legion. Dan, Good Luck in the CORPS and keep your sense of humor. - DER

No, for the first time, the South did not rise again and rednecks do not rule the universe. You are on equal playing ground with the rest of us city-dwellers. Despite your numerous Southern and redneck tendencies, however, you have been a great friend through thick and thin and have always been there to lend a helping hand regardless of the situation. You have been a part of many wonderful memories over the years for me and are a friend whom I will treasure forever. From countless trips, to PRTs, to our engagement and wedding, you were there every step of the long and seemingly never-ending road. Your tenacious work ethic, easy-going spirit, and ability to listen makes people trust and believe in you. If you believe in yourself as others believe in you, you will undoubtedly go far in life. Someday, many people will look at you and say, I knew him when… I am honored to say that I am one of those people. Thank you Matthew for the wonderful memories. Both Kristen and I thank you from the bottom of our hearts and love you dearly. NJC

Its been four long and interesting years here by the Bay. It had its ups and downs but overall, it was an awesome experience and I would do it all over again if given the opportunity. I want to thank some families and friends who were always there for me when I needed help: my sponsor family-Mr. & Mrs. Rich Hughes and their kids; they are like a family to me and for that I thank them very much, the Ochalek family in Michigan for opening their home to me; the Starr and Hill families. My Company mates in 20th Company especially my two roommates Jess Hill and Matt Starr for putting up with me. Great thanks goes out to Bomono and Caroline Emessine, and Michelle Bradley for all your continuous support. I want to thank CDR Thad Welch and Prof Richard Martin of the Electrical Engineering Department for their help and supervision of my academic work. I can not mention all the friends and families who did so much for me this pass four years; you know who you are and God Bless you. I also want to thank my aunt Dr. Grace Fobi and the Wakam family for their support. Much thanks and LOVE goes to Noella Sob for her constant support and words of encouragement. Great thanks and admiration goes out to my mom, Mrs. Sirri Matilda because without her none of this would have been possible. Above all, I want to thank God for everything He has done and continues to do in my life.

Eternal Father, strong to save, Whose arm hath bound the restless wave,
Who bidd'st the mighty ocean deep, Its own appointed limits keep,
Oh hear us when we cry to thee, For those in peril on the sea!

Lord, guard and guide the men who fly, Through the great spaces in the sky.
Be with them always in the air, In darkening storms or sunlight fair.
Oh hear us when we lift our prayer, For those in peril in the air!

Eternal Father, grant, we pray, To all Marines, both night and day,
The courage, honor, strength, and skill, Their land to serve, thy law fulfill;
Be thou the shield forevermore, From every peril to the Corps.

Lord God, our power evermore, Whose arm doth reach the ocean floor,
Dive with our mean beneath the sea; Traverse the depths protectively.
O hear us when we pray, and keep, Them safe from peril in the deep.

Definitely one motivated Marine until about ten minutes ago...hello SWO. Wait, so you, Mullen and Sheridan are on the same ship, are you serious? You were never sarcastic at all, especially your away messages...Ah, Bestgate road, your home away from home. Hey, so I'll see you at one minute to midnight. It always managed to be somebody's birthday, funny how it works out that way. Your golf clubs consistently being anywhere, but in your possession. Shady sports, Zim's post-game analysis, 6025 out ... So, um, free-cell, have fun with that. Hey, new staff next week, are you on it? Such a diehard New York sports fan, especially the Mavericks...I mean...never mind. Missing one shining moment to talk to the gf ...hmmm gonna have to order the Doug 'Chrystie' jersey for that one. How is playing PS2 on the easiest level fun? Nice Midstang, too bad its never in one piece. Good times getting rear ended, that SPRING BREAK started pretty well for you--my wallet's gone! Of course that didn't keep you from stirring things up with the medal of honor winners--"nice haircut, 'fellas'." Best study habits ever...Oh you're putting in a movie at 1am--Big surprise. Your Fort Edward friend was OK, I guess. The jokes never stop with you. Definitely the guy that was always there to help me out when I needed (seriously). So thanks for stopping by, thanks for breaking my cow lamp.

I am Kenneth Byers, born in Norfolk, Va. My father works for the government and my mother is a retired Naval Officer. I have lived numerous places and have followed in the footsteps of my mother by enlisting in the Navy shortly after High School. From boot camp, I was to complete the Naval ET Nuke School program. Shortly after completing the 'A' school, I was accepted to NAPS and to follow on here at the Naval Academy. I majored in mathematics and have attained the qualification of operations analysis. I was accepted into the Submarine community and will begin shortly after the Academy. Best wishes to the GREAT friends that I have made and good luck in all future endeavors.

Joe, Hembree, CB Hembree, Caucasian! It all started so innocently for you, coming to us from Sarasota. OK we know Florida is the greatest, and so are you. We still love ya though. In the words of Coach, "You didn't come here to learn did you?" From the endless days of practices to the always-fun road trips, soccer was an adventure. "You can't con a con artist! What'd you break this time? I can't believe that the hottest girl in the bar was more interested in Hembree than me: the Predator! Coach will keep forgetting about you on the bench unless you go remind him that you are there man." Finally after 3 and a half years of hard work on the field, we were given a semester off to enjoy ourselves. Let's celebrate by going to visit your grandma. Tired of those long after-hours walks to gate 8, we went in search of grander, finer establishments elsewhere. Baltimore: "Do you have any spare change? Sorry man, but here's a Busch." DC: "This place is classy, we need to dress up. Let's go buy some suits." NYC: "What? This is a 23 and up club? Bogus!" Wherever we went, we always had fun. Don't forget how much fun we all had when you move back down to your self-proclaimed "greatest" State. We certainly won't forget you. –BSM, JMG, RAM

Over the years, the exploits of Durk Dawg, O.D.S. and Frank the Tank have become legendary. We've come a long way since the Grateful Deuce, Turkey Ten and ultimately No Fun 21. I have learned a great deal about an alternate culture from my roommate and have ultimately decided that I am glad that I'm not from Texas. I'll miss access to his DVD library but I'll find some way to survive. In closing, I just want to say that if you don't know the regulations you're breaking, you have no reason to feel guilty. Oh yeah, if anybody needs a massage therapist, look me up. Keep it Real.

There are many things about Dan Person that will strike you upon meeting him. One is that he is the cheapest deal hunting person around. Two is that he will argue against you any chance he gets just for the sake of proving you wrong. Thirdly he has had the same haircut for 23 years. Other than that you just don’t want to upset him, he has been known to get Angry and take on an entire party. He is the only guy in the world that would rather play video games than go out and have a good time. You will never catch him without a bottle of “”Recoup”” protein shake because he is very sensitive about his scrawny frame. Despite all this, you could not ask for more from a friend. Dan never strays from an opportunity to help his friends. He has been a outstanding teammate for four years. He upholds ever aspect of being a Navy Football Player. He never tries to be anyone but himself and will make just as good a husband and father as he does a friend. Good Luck Dan and God Bless. stann

Eternal Father, strong to save, Whose arm hath bound the restless wave,
Who bidd'st the mighty ocean deep, Its own appointed limits keep,
Oh hear us when we cry to thee, For those in peril on the sea!

Lord, guard and guide the men who fly, Through the great spaces in the sky.
Be with them always in the air, In darkening storms or sunlight fair.
Oh hear us when we lift our prayer, For those in peril in the air!

Eternal Father, grant, we pray, To all Marines, both night and day,
The courage, honor, strength, and skill, Their land to serve, thy law fulfill;
Be thou the shield forevermore, From every peril to the Corps.

So Brendle, how's your MILF doing? Way to throw Kermit one hell of a 21st. You really know how to party like a rockstar. The only firstie who RC almost teabagged – what a view! You are one of the most dependable and inspirational people we know. Thanks for being a true friend and Brother. Good luck with those smaht kids at MIT. – We few, we happy few, we Band of Brothers. Chief: You flinch. 95 in a 55? We did NYC in style. The most natural sleeper we know. Old man of the club. Don't forget the other roommate, the hitchhiker you picked up somewhere. Oh yeah, you flinch. Thanks for the good times; it was a great four years here, and we made some great friendships. Smartest man I know after all this damn school you're gonna go through. Someone made a huge mistake when they put us in a room together plebe year. And times have been great ever since! Wherever we went, OC, NYC, HK, Singapore….and the unscheduled stop in Hawaii, the fun never ended. Through all the good times, I don't know how you managed to ace this place. What was your secret recipe for A's on exams? Oh yeah: 30 mins Freecell, 15 mins Solitaire, and a quick glance at the book. Whatever it is, keep it up at MIT and have a blast in Boston. See you on our Sub sometime soon. Mom, Dad, Erin, Adam, Kerry, and Devan: thanks for the support. It meant a lot, and got me through Annapolis.

Submarines

Son of native Puertoricans Dr. Pablo and Lucille Guzman, Johann was born in Baltimore and grew up in South Florida. Interpreting at a health clinic sparked Johann's interest in public service. After graduating Cum Laude from Saint Andrew's, Johann continued his service at the Naval Academy through the Latin American Studies Club. Weekly, he mentored young Latinos, showing them that their language is not a hindrance, but a gift. The stage also provided Johann another means of exciting service. His role in the Men's Glee Club and musicals like Pirates of Penzance, mini Sgt of Police, and Little Shop of Horrors, Seymour, evoked tears and laughter in his audience, the latter his favorite. While such a sense of humor and originality brought Johann much difficulty during Plebe year, as well as the nickname Senator, he recovered and persevered. Over the next three years, the political scientist pursued internships, Pentagon, Southern Command; travel, Spain, Norway, Hawaii; and his passion for public service. These experiences earned Johann a Harry S. Truman Scholarship that he will utilize after graduating with Distinction from Annapolis. A Master's of Public Policy from Harvard University combined with a career as a submarine officer will arm Johann with the leadership tools and knowledge to shape policy for Latinos and improve their lives in and out of the U.S.

Alex conveniently strolled into USNA from Potomac, MD. From the first day, he wanted to get the full Academy experience, and got way more than he bargained for. From the highs, to the lows, all that matters is tomorrow's graduation. Preakness. Ocean City Part I: "Did I drink all that!?" and the infamous bike that almost ended our lives. Ocean City Part II: Brendan + Joe and Fred. Crazy times. Aerosmith came into town, Alex left town for a while. Egregious. Member of the 1% Club, the radio room and various afterhours wardrooms social gatherings, and most importantly, Mom delivering home cooked meals to Bancroft. Alex – thanks for the countless memories as a great roommate. You always thought of others before yourself, and were the best friend I could ask for. You never let tough times get you down, and you always came out on top. Your friend in time, Brendan. Most importantly, I would like to give my most sincere thanks to all my family that supported me through the Naval Academy. I would have never made it through without the love of my parents, Nesar and Soryia. You are the best parents ever. I will never forget all the discussions we have had. Jeff, Anisa, Weiss and Star, thanks for putting up with me and getting me home (especially Anisa). Joe and Fred, appreciate all the good times we have had. Grandma and Grandpa, thank you for the encouragement.

From the halls of Montezuma, to the shores of Tripoli, We fight our country's battles in the air, on land and sea. First to fight for right and freedom, and to keep our honor clean; We are proud to claim the title United States Marines. Our flags unfurled to every breeze from dawn to setting sun. We have fought in every clime and place, where we could take our gun. From the snow of far off northern lands and in sunny tropic scenes, You will find us always on the job, The United States Marines. Hears to health to you and to our Corps which we are proud to serve. In many a strife we've fought for life and we've never lost our nerve. And if the Army Or the Navy ever look on heaven's scenes, they will find the streets are guarded by the United States Marines.

Eternal Father, strong to save, Whose arm hath bound the restless wave,
Who bidd'st the mighty ocean deep, Its own appointed limits keep,
Oh hear us when we cry to thee, For those in peril on the sea!

Lord, guard and guide the men who fly, Through the great spaces in the sky.
Be with them always in the air, In darkening storms or sunlight fair.
Oh hear us when we lift our prayer, For those in peril in the air!

Eternal Father, grant, we pray, To all Marines, both night and day,
The courage, honor, strength, and skill, Their land to serve, thy law fulfill;
Be thou the shield forevermore, From every peril to the Corps.

Lord God, our power evermore, Whose arm doth reach the ocean floor,
Dive with our mean beneath the sea; Traverse the depths protectively.
O hear us when we pray, and keep, Them safe from peril in the deep.

Burdman" followed his Uncle and Father to the Naval Academy, joining a long tradition of not so distinguished graduates. He really only spent 2 years in Annapolis, because half of his time was spent viewing the banks of the Severn from his rack. He hit the books plebe year, and they hit back hard forcing him to focus in the toughest major of them all, Poly Sci! AJ will always hail as the mentor who fixed Sham up with Miss Right. While some may argue that the "Swiss Miss" is a fitting call sign, the Burdman sure puts on a good halftime show with his little friend the snowman. Kristen, watch out for that fence! And she falls so gracefully in front of it. Always dirty and always working hard. Unbelievable patience and lovable kindness, how did you do it? However you did it, you amazingly did it all: softball, MGSP, reef points, beloved squad leader, stripes, and in the end you always had several hours to devote to your crack s. Great friend, great teammate, great pinky partner next time no set screws. Decent choice in music and some day Michael Jackson and N*SYNC will return but for now deal with Shai. “Freindship is the hardest thing in the world to explain. It’s not something you learn in school. But if you haven’t learned the meaning of friendship, you really haven’t learned anything.” Well you taught me a lot; how to laugh, how to cry, and how to keep going when everything seems at its worst. It’s ok that my parents like you better, after all you ironed your pants and I didn’t. I think they want to rent you but they’ll never admit to it. Even Ashley wants to borrow you because you’ll sit 5 feet from the little ice cream girl in DTA and talk about her, and she thought she was so cool with her chocolate ice cream mustache. But seriously, I am thankful for all the times you picked me up when I was down and I know how difficult that was. You are the queen of cracks and my best friend. -Sunshine

From Squip and the Redwoods, featuring Clarence the Tapeworm, to Off the Boat at Sean Donlon's where you became blood brothers with Dennis, you've grown from chasing "girls just around the corner" in Baltimore to becoming Scott Man-fran-jen-sen. Hey Scott, have you figured out how many beers it takes to get drunk at 13,000 feet? Yep, about half as many as at sea level. By the way, is that gun loaded? No! I checked the chamber! And another thing, exactly how many people are stuck inside that body of yours? We've counted at least fifteen. So we hear you're getting married and coming back to the Academy as a company officer... or maybe to teach Astro. Nah, f- I mean forget that. Keep playing guitar, man. Zakk Wylde rules and Randy Rhoads is God; one day you'll finally be able to play all their stuff. Over the last four years you've changed from a hardcore yut to just another fly-boy. It has been a long and interesting four years at USNA. I decided not to put any stories or quotes here, although I was definitely the subject of many in the last few years. Instead, I just want to acknowledge a few of the people who have made a difference in my life. To my friends: You all have made this experience worthwhile. The times that we shared and the bonds created between us will last a lifetime. To my dear mother: It has been so long since you passed away, but I can still feel your presence in my life. To my family: Thank you for your support. Despite the many difficulties we have faced, you all are the reason I have become the person that I am. To Cheryl, I love you and can't wait to spend the rest of our lives together. Finally, the Lord is the real reason that I have managed to come this far. You have always watched over me, and I want to strive every day to put all my hope and trust in you. To all my classmates, good luck and Godspeed.

Eternal Father, strong to save, Whose arm hath bound the restless wave,
Who bidd'st the mighty ocean deep, Its own appointed limits keep,
Oh hear us when we cry to thee, For those in peril on the sea!

Lord, guard and guide the men who fly, Through the great spaces in the sky.
Be with them always in the air, In darkening storms or sunlight fair.
Oh hear us when we lift our prayer, For those in peril in the air!

Eternal Father, grant, we pray, To all Marines, both night and day,
The courage, honor, strength, and skill, Their land to serve, thy law fulfill;
Be thou the shield forevermore, From every peril to the Corps.

Lord God, our power evermore, Whose arm doth reach the ocean floor,
Dive with our mean beneath the sea; Traverse the depths protectively.
O hear us when we pray, and keep, Them safe from peril in the deep.

"He went to Andover and had a 4.0, so he doesn't have to sit here with you rogues."-MG… "Let's see what Phillips Academy graduate Justin Accamaaaando has to say"-JO…Got his voice secured by Lapinski, but was back in action soon, and thereafter opened every story with, "So there I was," or "As I was saying."-CT, AP, JO, EL…Could utter wise counsel or offer up idiotic quotes in the same breath, but don't get into a battle of wits with him, he knows Latin.-AP, EL…Scared tourists by screaming obscenities at his computer after sleepless nights.-CT…"What'd she say?" "I love meat!"-BG…Crank calls with Arnold…Room donut eating champion, 15 at once. PT'ed plebes to death at the PEP tent: 1,000 squats. "1,2,3, don't be a quitter,1,2,3"-CT…The best rower on the lightweight crew team-JO…Took pride in setting speed records over both land and water. Some people bring spending money on spring break, but Justin brought "ticket" money, offering to pay cash bribes…err, fines to state troopers.-SL…The girls called him JP, but he always seemed to chase the ones who were already involved-AP… Headed to Oxford next year, but never would have gotten anywhere without his friends in 24 and the boys on the team. Here's to the Colors, Flavors, and Crackers. Go Navy Lights!-JP

Bjorn Arthur Anderson

Eden Prairie, Minnesota
Navy Pilot

Bjorn came to us from Eden Prairie in the great state of Minnesota. I did not know that sailors came from Minnesota, but was missed. When he returned to us, he was a changed man: one bum knee and a small yet distinguished conduct record. The good times resumed right away, and the "residue" would be found in closets and garbage cans the next day. We always knew it was going to be a good night when we saw the mullet cap. Capping a winter night in MD with a swim is never a good idea, though. First class year brought the good times in droves, too many to remember, and too many that can't be remembered, but it was the best of times. Here's to a hard worker, hard partier, great friend and roommate. Just make sure you bring the mullet cap to Pensacola. -JDK et al.

Four years together! Who thought we would make it?… I came from Purdue University (NROTC) and lived in Grand Rapids, Michigan. I started out in Systems engineering but ended up as a General Engineer with a little Aero (DBF, Survivability) and Systems (ATR). What happened?!?! Dam finals! Thanks to James, Chris, and Mike for the JCCE and JCC-M series. Some memories kept, some forgotten – on purpose. James, where did those pictures disappear too? Who would ever think that 25% of our Academy Career would be spent playing GTA2? I have never been so pissed off in my life. Sanctioned game anyone? Too bad we never got the fish tank to work but our room did look like a land fill every weekend. Jason, you will never win, seriously. Mike – whole buddies, right? DBF, right? We're gonna win. Mike, we're not going to win. Sorry for the hefty fine Norwegian Cruise lines. Hotel rooms, Diving, four-wheelers, Rouge Spear, Ebay, shooting, Gunny PT, Flying planes on HP, and the Mustang that isn't finnished yet; all great memories. What used to be the "B" Hockey team, you can't top our trips. Redunculous. What about that PRT? Lauren, thank you for all the great times and I am looking forward to what lies ahead of us. Thanks to everyone that made my time here worthwhile. Mom and Dad, you are the best and I would never have made it this far without you.

Her name: MoMo. Her love: Running. Her heart: Bigger than everyone's. The swift and steady runner came to us from nearby Fair Haven and managed to earn numerous N*'s: all in XC, Indoor, Outdoor, upside down, and backwards. Her 1/C year she was either out on a jaunt or on the beach as she MOrphed into a surfer girl. "Mo, we gotta check the surf report, dawg." Oceanography tried to tame her, but met its match. It thus moved into a van DOWN BY THE RIVER! Seriously, Pom Pom, her timely humor emerged with hilarity all the time. JCCE-I & II DTA, MIA, BS, EEBD, YP, and the 24th Co. Silver Civics catch the blur! She's conquered Ireland, Costa Rica, British Columbia, QTown and returned to tell the tales. "Is that Mama Carr phone pranking us again?" She survived a year of living alone with Lisa true accomplishment. "BEER! Beer?" Proud member of the plebe summer HERD! She always remembered the little things like birthdays and holidays and had a gift waiting ahead of time the most selfless of individuals. Thanks for tolerating me, laughing at all my jokes even when they were retarded, and being there. Look for her to conquer the Eco Challenge in the future the Corps got the best Carr! I am going to refill my water bottle. 'Rah! ---LDS

I'm there for you in a clutch situation! (Especially when you need a wake up call!) Emily I want to be the skipper—not fair you didn't get wet! Late night shenanigans with Lisa- read the E! I think somebody forgot their pants! "Ten Things I Hate About You- what a great movie!" Rack wars with the ghetto racks. "Shhh, don't wake up my classmates!" 4th of July at the Yacht Club. No words can describe Ohio folks- I'll never forget you guys. "Yeah for balls and submarines!" Too short to pick the ship! Eluding the Rickover CDO! Thank god the computer crashed AFTER it was all over. First broken bone—Boom to the Face, not once, not twice, yeah THREE times! Interesting van rides: "Shelley did WHAT?" "Emily was that you?"-"Come on, just one country song!" 3 years of fights…It's all outta love! We're forever your little sisters (KBG, AJB) So you burnt down a field, huh? Fun times at CORK…come on Em we'll race ya! How lost did we get? I learned it at firstie summer camp! We wanna eat where you don't. "You want our tomatoes – we'll take your croutons?" Thank you ladies- we got Heff wrapped around our fingers! Is this the illest kid from Nebraska! At 6'8" wearing a green Polo shirt, khakis and white super size shoes came to NAPS frustrated because the airport lost his bags. Staying up after taps eating fruit snacks with Alarcon, White, LB, Brown, Q, and Reeves knowing the morning came extremely early….Getting 34's on tests, mad, because he didn't know what he got himself into… I can remember us talking to coach Ayers about leaving, but little did we know we would be graduating on May 23, 2003….I don't know if it would have happened with out us being in the same plebe summer squad, academic squad and on the same YP's, and on top of that, roommates for three years….Staying up extra late, doing nothing, knowing we had a final the next day…Eating hotdogs and hamburgers cooked on the extra weak George Forman, while trying to air out the smell so nobody would catch us…. Drums were slacking, but we made it work….Doing no schoolwork, playing Bond and watching DVD's all night ….Summer school 2000 was extra fun, even though half of it was on restriction….Sleeping all during the day, but none at night, then waking up extra grumpy in the morning…Sneakily ordering shoes and just popping up with them when an event was about to occur….Always at treatment/rack or playing basketball….Stayed on the hunt, played for the Omaha O-faces while denying everything….but who cares, it's 2003! -- Q

Rob Franklin (aka. Frank-dawg) The best shipmate you could ask for. Period. Rob arrived from Georgia with 140 pounds of moto and is leaving with about 165 of pure beast. He met Gunny Slaughter the first day of Plebe Summer drill. MOS Plebe Year. Invented the Wall of Fame and Wall of Shame (the more popular of the two) Youngster Year. Gotta be the hardest charger any of us ever saw (not to mention the most SWO-tivated). You can identify him from a mile away by the "oo-rah" and the invisible lats. You can also tell by the shirt-stay rubs and the fact that he has more hair on his back than on his head. No man is more feared by plebes, nor more respected by his classmates. You would have a hard time finding a man as hard-working, principled, honest, or as fun to hang out with. Although always in moderation, Rob is happy to enjoy a cold one with friends. He highly recommends Bintang, a brew native to Bali, Indonesia. His illustrious career at the Academy includes two sets of detail, company XO, and squad leader … oh, wait a minute. "What's that, CDR? Oh, I see. It doesn't matter whether I want the job or not." Well, they couldn't have picked a better Batt Training, but we missed you on 6-3. But no stairs … that's hard to beat. Rob's favorite word is heinous, his favorite person is Katherine, and I swear he's got a hidden tattoo of the stars and bars somewhere.

Has a black belt in judo (don't worry) and in the ancient art of Rack PT (worry). Only known human whose PRT scores are inversely proportional to the amount of time he spends working out and who trains for an ultra-marathon horizontally. Always ready to laugh, talk, listen, watch a movie, or sing. He understood English just fine during plebe summer, as we now know. He introduced us all to Korean food, especially gim-chi and rice. He has been sighted studying on rare occasions, but he spends most of his time sitting in front of his computer in his underwear, downloading music (all perfectly legal, of course …). These last four years have been interesting to say the least. I've had plenty of good and bad experiences, but it'll be the good ones that I'll remember. Plebe summer roommates, 1:38 uniform changes, Texas chow calls, 23, early mornings with crew. Grilling burgers in Boston harbor. The misfits of 4223 and 7th Co. What was I thinking wrestling with you Brandon? Scott, you always looked better with purple hair. Rob, that Soviet sailor suit fits you well. Stuck in Istanbul with Craig. I hope you got your money back. I'm just glad we didn't die in that taxi. Room 1113A and B. Chris, we should have just cordoned off that side of the room. PAX river TPS and Whidbey. Driving the JOPA mobile. FIRSTIE YEAR in 24! 2-1 and 2nd platoon. 5th Batt OPS. Watching Lisa, Q, and E rack up the points. Marine Corps marathons, MAG, late night Astro projects with Ed, Scott, James and Mike. Mono and dating tips from Guy. Greg and Sangmin. Quintrell, how can we begin to describe him? Hailing from the A-town and with a nickname like Qbanga, NTF must have known that he got the job done. Through it all, he made it through a rough five years. From 101 times in 1-2 to the 4 in 4 days on 6-2 we've held it down since NAPS. Holdin' it down in the condo, summer school 2000…and then the restricto for the LL, we still made it happen, regardless. A NTF representer and neat/packrat roommate your boy was always on top of things. After giving 'em 14,7,9, and 8 against Army, we all know there will be more Atlanta All-star weekends (almost the quadruple double). After leaving one partner in grime and moving in with two others you should do fine down in the 'Gula. Always ready to hold it down anywhere on the east coast, even if it backfires sometimes (Maria), we can definitely say he was always down for the hometeam. From takin' over from California to Virginia (Alexander the Great), he could've made his own song about area codes. Anytime you need to get waxed up in a game of 2 on 2 or on the 007, you know where to find me. Sleepin' like a salamader and eatin' a diet of chik-fil-a's and fish sandwiches we made it through five. Now you've got five more to get it…22 and counting….new-new's only…can I get a word in edgewise?….trying to take over the world….uhhh…..skibbit……umm….yea. --E

I put the cow in the fridge, it's funny "When I was growing up..." Brad's driving = grandma's driving..."Well my Dad..." Which way to Baltimore? You didn't tell me not to turn. Subs, Subs, Subs, NFO. If it weren't for movies, the Simpson's or the Family Guy, we'd have nothing to talk about After Sisco's 21st: Oh my God! Clean that up now! Mongerball Only firstie ever to chit-surf through plebe summer BAMFDO 40 different "I regret to inform you that your son is dead." And then, falling asleep in the Pway Roommate's for 3 years D&B, Teddy Bear, Timmy AND Jimmy for room mascots. 9 MAPRS, First beer, service assignment night, models hitting on me, Wildmanned by roommates plebes, twice, in the same meal,"Do you do any work?","This is the healthy kind of doughnut.","It's a virtual quagmire" Leaky roof plebe year. Greg Scheid-Young (aka. Scheid-Young) A great roommate and shipmate. Although the combination of plebe year and Greg were shocking to everyone (you went to where?...homeschool?...what planet are you from Scheid-Young…panties in bunches?), he certainly turned around and became the Battalion Sergeant Major, Company Commander, and more importantly completed a Mini-BUD/S screener. Finisher of 03 JFK 50-milers. Future sufferer of arthritis. A white guy in the Gospel Choir, now there's something you don't see every day. Decent guitar player. An English major who helped everyone in the company at some point on a paper. Should have been a physics major, as he spent more time helping others in chemistry and physics than writing papers himself. Enjoyed computer programming more than writing papers. The only person I know who ironed military creases in the shirts of the other plebes in his squad so he, too, could wear military creases. Always setting the example with his personal and professional life, the men and women of the OAK HILL are lucky to have Greg coming aboard. Fair winds and following seas.

Call her DIANE. MoMo's quote: "Don't worry…she'd do that even if she wasn't drunk." Favorite book: Webster's. She's a nerd! Mo and Em survived 4 years of all night papers, energy bursts, random away messages, incoherent ranting, and multiple voices. "It's all about entertainment even if it's just myself." Mike Co., 23rd Plt., 1st Sqd: Always. Plebe summer haircut: It is HUGE! Russian or raptor, we still knew you were a motivator, your squat booty was developing, and we were struck with your low voice. Since then, you've become a Marine and your squat booty has paraglided off the Alps, survived a moped wreck in Bermuda, skied a black diamond at Jackson Hole, graced the bar of the classiest club in Tampa, greeted every person in both DTA and Las Vegas, and done more pull-ups than…everyone. You saw U2 on your 21st, taught Buddha statues Kung fu, almost chewed through J's phone cord, left half of your shin on a seat at Camden Yards, helped drain the Hawk at Leatherneck and learned what? Social drinking is GOOD! You're the only person who can't make a free throw, yet still makes the double pump, no-look, one-handed reverse lay-up look EASY! VGEP, Captain, defensive stud, the rare 4 years of NWB, and 3 N*. Seriously, though, you've been there for us through thick and thin and we 'love' you for that. Semper Fi and 'RAH! The graduating class of the 25th Company Armadillos reported to the Academy on July 1, 1999. Back then we made up the plebe platoon of Golf 13. We were introduced to life at the Academy by "men" like Billy B, Cuomo, Murphy, and Compton as we participated in the last "real" plebe summer which was also the hottest on record.

Plebe year came and we joined the rest of the crew from Lucky 13 under the leadership of LT Rick "Random" Ryan. At least we had a good chief. The good times include: drunken dining outs with Knox at the Marriot, the Army-Navy run, Cappelli's antics, and Webber taunting Nye. The bad: SMT with Billy B. We'll certainly never forget the irritating, "Do the boards. Just do the boards." No kidding, thanks shipmate.

Youngster year was spent with 6 pack and LT Tracy "Blossom" Keegan. Being a plebe with carry on had some advantages. At least there where no Firsties in the Hall on Fridays during cocktail hour. Unfortunately we said goodbye to some close friends that year. Fat Piep's and Webber called it quits.

Second class year we joined 25th Company, or as the firsties so loved to say, "Two-Five." Little love was lost between the two upperclasses. Some might say this had to do with our plebe training technique, or lack thereof. Forever scarred by the "JoeMids" of plebe year, we brought or own style to training. Captain "You can't fake the Funk on a nasty dunk" joined us this year with his sidekick UTCS "The Dozer" Buckman. Our class continued to shrink as more good friends departed. Cappelli, Crowder, and Boner left for greener pastures, or at least for colder beer and hot chicks.

Finally, we were Firsties and someone rigged the votes, placing the two Jim's in charge of the company. Quality of life improved slightly with company dining-outs/ins, picnics, bowling and golf tournaments. 25th also brought home two intramural championships. While we attempted to excerise our own style of leadership within the company, the "Student of the human mind" kept us under the firm heel of his jungle boot. We also bid farewell to B.F. Toole. He took a header off his rack youngster year and never quite recovered. May finally rolled around, Commissioning Week passed quickly, we graduated, and got the hell out of here. "Okay?"

Once upon a time, there were 2 dudes on port and starboard lookout. This is the story of the port lookout. 3/c summer brought NTT and YP's. The women swooned in NYC, Boston, and Newport from a mixture of midori sours, Jimmy's charm, and the fact he had been out to sea for 6 months. 3/c year Kauber continued to excel by staying in on the weekends to study and prepare for BUD/s in 3 years. 2/c year Kauber surfaced again, for the mini-BUD/s screener. Kauber found no problem with the screener by riding on his swim buddies back and learning it was OK to relieve himself anywhere on anyone. After making a few stops at the Typhoon Saloon that summer, Jimmy was onto firstie year. We saw a 3rd Edition to Kaubers charm and his ability to make gin and tonics disappear. When he was not picking fights in the bars of Annapolis, you could find him at the range becoming an All-American. A true swim buddy and brother, we wish you the best of luck in the surf of San Diego-SJR. Always inspiring, always motivating, always looking out for others. Getting crazy at a bachelor party, night on the town in College Park, having a few beers with some friends. Those were just a few examples of the good times. Maybe one day our paths and careers will cross again. You've been a loyal and true friend-JFC. Mom, Dad and Teresa thank you for everything, you all have made me who I am today.

Michael Tichard Montoya

Mariposa, California
Navy Pilot

Born about 800 years too late, Mike Montoya came to us from the thriving metropolis of Mariposa, California where his dad is the Village Doctor. Whether you call him Special forces, switchblade, or space cadet, he excelled during Plebe Summer; especially at the end when he "jumped for joy." How you survived with Nye and Webber remains a mystery. "There's a fire Nye, we have to go!" Youngster year: averaged 14 hours of sleep a day. How? Nap after school, another right after dinner, and then bed by 10pm. Occasionally, he would even sleep in the shower. "Wake me up for octopus." In his few waking hours he was master of pod racing as Ben "The Four Engine Madman." He was also Monty, the grenade throwing Axis LT. 2nd Class year: "I'll never get another chance!" DC may have beat you to MK but that's okay because you've got Amy to tuck you in. Loved Leatherneck! Talked about it every weekend. How was that 3 hour inspection? "I can't believe you are sitting in my house!" Firstie year: Monty as Mr. Vice "Quiet down knaves!" "Hello Milo….Hello Otis." The screen saver made this place a little bit better. We will miss his personality and his sense of humor. Service Selection wish list: 1. Knight of The Round Table, 2 Navy Pilot. Second choice isn't bad, especially nowadays. We will all still wonder who will be first up against the wall after the Revolution. –MR, JC, WP, BS, JD

Bill's a 55 year old trapped in a 23 year old body. Spent plebe year pancing Nye and providing upperclass and senior enlisted with dip. Inaugural winner of the white glove award. By order of…Gaaaary Roooughead. A man of casual bigotry, he went on to found ASLA youngster year. In fact, that may be all he remembers from youngster year, except for those pesky tree monsters. Look Bill, it's Shaquille O'Neal! Get away from the window! You can't fly! Election night was spent running naked through T-Court, to salute Al Gore of course. Bill wasn't just conservative, he was a few steps right of Il Duce. Second class year he was the training sgt…Has she climbed Herndon yet, Bill? Firstie year- Mr. Pollak, are you excited to be on battalion staff? Yes Sir, as long as I can keep doing my impression of you. We've never seen a man handle a sword like Bill. SWO doesn't suck, you suck…yes, you do. Got pretty good at juggling…girlfriends, that is. But his first love will always be Czech. The Ringer of both Brigade Champion teams, and the MVP of the high jump team, now he's heading back to the best coast to get his SWO on. Just remember, Bill Pollak is a sonofa- MM, JC, JD, MR, BS

Matthew Brian Roy

Fort Washington, Maryland
Navy Pilot

Begin Bio. Matt Roy came to the Academy from various Army stations around the world. Spent Plebe year making his roommates feel guilty as he incessently cleaned the room. "Why don't you get with Marshall on that?" Thanks Billy B. "Hey Matt, are you going to clean that up" Youngster year Matt traded up for new roommates, started talking in 1's and 0's, and tried to maintain neutrality in the various rooomate wars. Matt was strongly passionate about the superiority of Chevrolets. Just kidding. Friday night pod races (go Mars), Dahlgren pizza, and the girls next door telling us to shut up. Only roommate not to get fried for civvies. Got dragged into Plebe detail. Being condescending probably helped there. Matt proposed at Ring Dance in a circle of flashbulbs, despite Jim's best efforts to lose the ring. We're still not sure whether he was happier then or when he bought his car. "Dragged ass" as the second semester XO. At least he cleaned up after himself the morning after his birthday celebration, compsci party, etc, etc. BIOHAZARD! Hello Milo…Hello Otis. Why don't you liberate another bottle of wine and tell us what three things black people need to realize. Just read the damn email. At least he didn't have to worry about service selection: Navy Pilot. Call sign: La Resistance. End Bio. –MM, JC, WP, BS, JD.

Brian Sagona, AKA, Bryant Sagoña, AKA, Byron Lagoña. Stealth midshipman par excellence."Sagona? Is he in our company?" He was a beater plebe year, but that was only to get out of formations. What was that noise? Just Brian destroying another cell phone. Brian, this would be a lot easier to write if you didn't go home every weekend. "Are there any other Italians on this train?" Kicked anyone in the nose lately? Youngster year he met his true love, and never got the chance to "gather her up." Brian's the only Italian guy we know who sips tequila for the taste. Is your half of the room ever out of Bravo? Remember to knock before you go in your own room. Second class year he succumbed to Matt and modified his car, the mighty Camaro. Brian is responsible for Chapman's descent from sainthood. Strong contender for first up against the wall. Firstie year developed a tendency to throw good food out windows and attack friends. Will you give up your #30 pick so Milo and Otis can go to Japan? Led the firsties in number of midshipmen fried. Spring break he won he the game without even playing, if only Kady knew about Kelliana. Fastest mid in 25th company; Run, rocket boy! Scared the hell out of us until they let him swim. Kady broke up with Brian. What, again? Now he's off to Norfolk to SWO it up before starting his run to the supreme court.We'll allow it-MM, MR, WP, JC, JD

Four great years and One great friendship, we've been through a lot. Refrigerator restriction, the funny smell in the fridge. Kimchi goes with everything. Short "10 min" Power naps. But what I'm most happy about is making a new good friend! Good luck in Korea! ~James "The shocker" Shey I will do it today if I have to do it someday, I will do it myself if somebody has to do it, and I will do it happily if I have to do it anyway. It has been great experience I can never forget for four years at the US naval academy. All I've learned here will play a very important role for my career as a naval officer and as a man who desires to contribute to his country. Looking at the sun set is waiting for the sun rise. A new day always comes, and today is the first day of the rest of my life. I will live my life that way… that way I can say myself at the moment when my eyes close forever that my life was worthy. I was the only one who cried and everyone else smiled when I was born, but I wish I am the only one who smiles while everyone else cries when I die. I will live my life that way… that way until Taegukgi covers my cold body.

One question: 'Why so angry?' I'm angry because I had to leave beautiful California to live here in Crabtown, MD, where in the winter you freeze them off, and in the summer you sweat them off. You say I'm a 'Dirty Mexican', I prefer 'Latin Lover'. Polo was fun, but I never would have gone all four years if it weren't for the guys. Scho-nuts can't keep us down we're the shallow-deep warriors. Scho, stop being so bitter that your back is hairy and your life is a sham. Eat a --, what? Scho: 'Ceniseroz, you're on thin ice!' Spear fishing Euro-style and even Nature style. You like Dong fish, Triggers, and Puff Daddies? Still waiting for a Shark to get the guts to face us, but in the mean time the Morey Eels will do. While we wait, we'll bong a few beers…through our snorkels, while treading water. Savages, straight savages. Been through a lot of pain in my time, but the best advice I've heard is 'Suck it up'. Gracias Hermano. Life's not fair and sometimes its not even fun, but we did have some good times and there are more on the way. California's will have to wait a few more years. TAZ, Tazmon, A.G., Rave, or any other nickname that he might have earned over the past four years. So maybe he doesn't have the cleanest underwear, or support the cleanest team in the NFL, but at least he has learned how to share his Pop Tarts and how stand a little restriction. Late nights at Taco Bell watching the vampires, the Main-O surprise for Caleb in his leather jacket, and Orlando trip that will never be forgotten, if it can ever be remembered again. Ironic that the man who could never live without a fan on is now going into nuclear power, and the same man who got into so much trouble over the volume of his music is now going to be a Submariner. Whether he was rounding everyone up for another game of stickball, or bragging about his record in Madden football, he has always found a way to make us laugh. Good luck with your career, and your life as a married man, and never stop to look back , unless it is to remind yourself of where you came from. –The Gang

Too Tall. Tizzle. Ti-Sauce. Room B*tch. Rack Star. Never too busy for a good time. Five minutes… time for a nap and a shower. Paul, you got a game this weekend? You gonna get in..? That's what I thought. Like a baby's arm holding an apple. One from every class. Barnacles in Key West. In the rack for four months, with mono… still number one in the company. Bacne. Don't you have yard work to do? Paul, sometimes you have to say NO. You don't always have to take the grenade. Got a test tomorrow = Movie Night!!! The Tennessee Stud. Stop snoring. TURN OFF YOUR ALARM!!! Why do I have shoes, a sleeping bag, and a lacrosse stick in my rack? Waking up paranoid. You look tough… how come you're such a pansy? Paul, HOW many push-ups did you do? Yuck mouth. Odaban… now my butt is sweating. More shoes than a woman. Its not cool to wear under armor to night clubs. Where'd your date go? Paul, who you in the tub with? What's wrong with your dog? Get your underwear off the floor! Satin sheets… you have to be kidding me. Drunk depot youngster year. Annapolis Heights… Little Compton. Gamblin' with stripers. Paul you look burnt… "naaaa, this will tan". Broken body. Golfing on Farragut. Nice rash. Ski trips to Whitetail. Halo effect. Everquest late at night. Did you get permission to use the suburban? Walking 5 miles in Glen Burnout, in whites, to see a frickin' movie. I am Golthar the Butt-Thrasher. Oh no, the Revelation is upon us! It's swarms of ticks, mosquitoes, nanny goats, and screaming chickens, OBX. You see California does suck! So which girlfriend is it now, and which wing is she in? Dude, stick to the Aussies, the Germans suck. Get crazy wit ya bad self at the I-Ball. And the tape ball says… This is my Valhallan. He has Galorian armor for 15 pts and a Vespian twin rail multiplasma cannon for 25 pts. So what happened on this day in history? Trust us, Chicks dig Goth! What does it mean to do the right thing? A master of the quotes: "Pass the hummus." What planet are you from Howard? International man of catastrophe. "You don't love me anymore!!" What random historical site did you travel to this weekend? The red star goes great with the stars and stripes. Tell me again about what really happened in history . . . No really, I'll listen this time. Oh dude, that sucks, someone erased your board again. The reason you don't have any money is because you have an army on your desk. Take the WWI helmet off. Oh yeah, jack boots are in style . . . for Nazis. Born and raised in God's country, the luckiest man alive came to USNA knowing nothing about anything outside Boston. He left not knowing much more, especially about sports, but continued proving the luck of the Irish, whether at sobriety checkpoints on Lombard St., with runaway strippers, or by being able to get out of everything published in MIDREGS. "Shalomahan" could never escape the Irish curse, however, as he was endowed with the title of the quickest man on the draw, even when clothed. This devout church-going Catholic was also rumored to visit the synagogue from time to time, although it's a sure bet that he wasn't dropping any tokens into the offering plate. True love will most likely not come his way since Mrs. Wells was taken long ago; his love of morally casual women is eternal, yet his inflatable mattress apparently isn't. Do Cobra's come complete with cupholders large enough for the Double Big Gulp? We hope that you will one day find out. Best wishes in your life's goals of breeding Italian children and finally fitting into one of those muscle shirts that you fail to fill out so well....Shalom! JCF, JMK, JBW, + CJM...

The 27th Company Class of 2003 began not as the Gamecocks, [redacted] not even the Herd, but rather the Killer Bees of 14th Company. Braving such evils as Jessica Podewills (a tiny evil), Will Rimmer [redacted] (a loud, red-headed evil), and Coté and Brown (ambiguously gay evil).

We suffered not a single loss, with the exception of that one kid from Napolean, OH. And then came the Ac Year, suffering the torment of the 14th Company "trainers" (or lack thereof). We carried out pep rallies in T-Court with unquenched fervor, and got to see our football team win at home for its first and last time. Army-Navy was another V, and along with it sprouts of Plebish debauchery, and a near-fry courtesy of Bobby Digital because of run-ins with wrapping paper. Then the dark ages for the first time. Suffering through our winter with spontaneous video sessions and memorandum format issues. Then finals, and intercessional, which included Millsap humping anything in sight, Dave humping him, and Missy losing a good swimsuit. The fastest time in recent Herndon history, and a goodbye to the eaves of 7-3. YPs in NYC, Boston, and Newport were fun. But next we learned all about location in our new home, 3rd Company.

Waking up at the bell for classes in Chauvenet was nice, but was it really worth formations in T-Court?? A luau that was a bust along with more random video tapes, and Perlstein growing out of another pant-size. Losing him and Conrad to the infamous 2 for 7, but getting an awesome tailgater out of it (riiight…), and those snazzy mugs that we drank out of all weekend, and then never again. Off-campus housing on 8-4. Good for the legs, but bad for taking naps between classes. Becoming official 'Gamecocks' along with neat-o shirts and not so neat-o hats. And then ring dance. The romance, the elegance, and the occasional hangover. Good times had by (almost) all, vaulting us right into firstie year.

Inspired by liberty. Goose leading us through the first semester before being entirely encompassed by basketball and electromechanical devices. Jimbo taking over the reins, and teaching us that using the f-word at formations can be professionally stimulating and motivating. Overall, 4 years at the Academy, 3 different companies, 2 different Supts (no comment here…), and one awesome class. Fair winds and following seas to those we leave behind, and good luck to everyone in the fleet. See you there.

Goose-better known as Farmer Goose. His AIM profile confirms his love for farming, but also mentions his liking of baseball, tall girls, high rates of speed and diesel trucks. He prides himself in having an all male squad that is well versed in the fundamentals of gas turbines and diesel engines. He is probably the only one who could tolerate cohabitation with the one who calls himself "The Merc". Goose spent many late nights with his Mech-E friends performing irrelevant calculations and getting side-tracked by talk of trucks, engines, and baseball. DKN The Goose, Selfish Steve. Defcon" Dave has established himself as a fine member of the Brigade for these past four years. His collateral duties have included crunching numbers, sailing, being a member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and providing SWO'Connor with leadership!!! In his spare time, Nielsen secretly owns a used car dealership on West Street where he enjoys immersing himself in the local culture. His crowning achievement during his tour at USNA was being the proud owner of a yellow 1935 Ford. With the '35 Ford, he engaged in combat missions that included extracting Merc Z and P. Pitty out of Baltimore. Dave is quite the ladies man but as he said himself, "I'm not a player, I'm just their social events coordinator." He will most remember his travels to Bermuda and the incredible journey across Switzerland. All in all, Defcon Dave has made his mark as a charismatic leader who possesses that rare and unique ability to charm everyone around him&#8230;..for he is really the one who is charge of the Brigade. It has been an amazing four years... I will miss the Gamecocks of '03 and being their 'screen during plebe summer(at least the parts that I can remember). I did a lot of stuff while I was here, Lacrosse Managing, Honor Staff, NAFAC, but the best thing I did was belong to '03(and Erika) of 27th company. When I wasn't reading Periscope or SNA, I was messing with Millsap and Chuck, conferring with the JCS, or talking to FancyCat...I can't mention all of you, but I will miss you all. The guys wanted to add: Ulcers, high school proms, diet coke, the girlie purple water bottle, pro knowledge guru (or so he thinks), battle of the bulge, love affair with Podewils, driving the Audi like NASCAR, just don't you dare slam the car door! SWOConnor! "We can't take the elevator, its against the rules!" Talking to himself in the mirror while drunk. Hanging with the JCS. What does a Batt Honor Rep do? Sugar Trail! I was born on April 14th, 1981. The place I consider home is Jacksonville, Florida. Although I have moved many times in my life, my fondest memories and closest friends and family are in Jacksonville. I am extremely thankful for my parents; they have loved me and sacrificed for me all my life. I could not be any happier with what the Academy has given me: life long friends, orders to flight school, a degree in systems engineering, a beautiful fiancée, and a proud sense of accomplishment. My time here has truly been a blessing. "Trust in the Lord and do good; Delight yourself in the Lord and he will give you the desires of your heart." (Psalm 37:3-4)

Here's to the good times over the years, and to all the girls you've loved before. Whether it's from home, Canada, or Tennessee, you always seemed to find The One…From Judo to Myrtle, tailgater beer to Tennessee moonshine, we had some good drinks together. Look forward to having a few more in the future, as long as you're buyin'. You'll look damn good with a Budweiser, so good luck and hoo-ya." ~Jimmy "Tony was type of guy who was full of surprises. Who could have guessed that the kid who looked like he was 13 years old would be the best pound for pound judoka and drinker in our class. Nor could have any of us predicted his ascendancy to the rank of CinCTOOL or his acceptance for application to the Ultimate Cool Guy Club (dude, isn't your BUD/S class in the winter?). Despite his prestigious achievements, Tony remains a bit of a wild card; always the fun guy to have as your swim buddy, his tendency to be grossly underestimated, along ability to find a good time even when there isn't one to be had, ensures that the list of his accomplishments is far from finished." ~Greg "Beer and Peanuts in TJ." Okay Tony, from now on you're going to be the talker, Bobby's the Looker, and I'm going to be just the Rower Crew Guy. Bachelorette Parties at the Martini Ranch." ~Bobby

Thanks to all my family and my friends. Richland, Washington and Hanford High school got me to where I am. Looks like my dreams are actually going to come true, I'll just have to keep my fingers crossed and work hard as I head down to P-Cola. Mom, thanks for the airplane books when I was a little kid. Dad, thanks for all your support over the years. Kelly/Alex, nice work and stick with the tiger team and Duma. To all my other friends and buddies you guys mean the world to me, thanks for all the memories and everything else. Good luck to everyone, just keep following those dreams. Dan W. Success usually comes to those who are too busy to be looking for it. -Henry David Thoreau- Down here we often feel that we are all different, but on a clear night when I look to the stars I am no longer bothered by the trivial disputes man invents to busy himself, for I realize we are all part of something much greater. -Unknown-

Stand Navy down the field, sails set to the sky. We'll never change our course, so Army you steer shy-y-y-y. Roll up the score, Navy, Anchors Aweigh. Sail Navy down the field and sink the Army, sink the Army Grey. Get underway, Navy, Decks cleared for the fray, We'll hoist true Navy Blue So Army down your Grey-y-y-y. Full speed ahead, Navy; Army heave to, Furl Black and Grey and Gold and hoist the Navy, hoist the Navy Blue. Blue of the Seven Seas; Gold of God's great sun Let these our colors be Till all of time be done-n-n-ne, By Severn shore we learn Navy's stern call: Faith, courage, service true With honor over, honor over all.

Company

It's May 2003, and the former warriors of Hotel-15 are about to hit the fleet. We've been through three companies, four different decks, four company officers, four senior enlisted leaders, three batt o's, and three Dants. Among our leaders have been a crazy New Yorker with a sword, the driver of the short bus, and more-than-a-few good old boys from the south. We may never have been close to winning Color Company, but we've been the Fleet Command champions and we won the Brigade Board competition for four years in a row. And no Club 28 Croquet team ever looked as good as our team did.

It feels like we've gone a long way, but at the same time, it's as if we just met yesterday. Among our ranks are great people like: John Ackerman, who lived in Rickover and occasionally visited Bancroft. Charlie Bell, the old man of the company but the wildest of us all. Sam Bodley, the effervescent laughing machine. Erin Borozny, the loudest 1LT ever. Trier Brown, the eternal source of optimism. Rob Buck, the lady's man. Pete Buryk, the planning fool. Mark Cochran, the jet jock Mustang driver. Puffy Combs, the most motivated man EVER. Shanna Conklin, the Wardroom Store entrepreneur. Jen Day, who paced the men's PRT without breaking a sweat. Tom Del Zoppo, the wittiest platoon commander we ever had. Jed Foglesong, the quiet giant. Pat Gatchell, for whom the War of Northern Aggression will end in a massive party. Sinead Gordon, the quietest rebel of them all. Mathison Hall, the brilliant BC whose understated excellence awed everyone else. Nick Harper, who may have been a trainer but never a tool. Joel Holwitt, the darn XO for both semesters. Matt Isenhower, the savvy politician and jurist. Kevin Jordan, the quiet Croquet co-captain. Kevin Joyce, the nicest person imaginable. Eddie Kennedy, who never missed a good time. Dome Pholtavee, an engineer's engineer. Kevin Ross, the epitome of the slow Texan drawl. Fidel Sanchez, who always knew when to smile. Bryan Scullin, the world champion triathlete. Jordon Voss, the laidback CC and Croquet co-captain who kept things real. Rob Weaver, the redheaded party animal. Jeremy Winkle, the sprint football player who pulled his own weight and more. Jordan Womble, who spoke loudly and still carried a big stick.

We may not have been the wildest company, the worst company, or the best company, but we have always been a solid group of good and decent people, who have reached for our hidden potential and struck gold. No one from 28 will ever be a failure, and none of us will ever want for good and loyal friends. Good Luck, God Bless, Fair Winds and Following Seas …

I would say it has been fun, but it hasn't. Thanks to everyone who tried to make me relax, but it didn't work. I will always be the spazzz. To all my company-mates, we have some good memories, esp. me squaring corners as a plebe, and Fort Meade. To the mech e's, it was hell, but it is over, thanks for working with me. To Dome, thanks for being a good bud for 4 years. Tom, I will always admire your work ethic…j/k but seriously, you were a good friend. Puffy, thanks for being a bud. Bobbo, thanks for being so reliable, good luck with everything, you really turned some heads here. To my parents and family, thanks for supporting me. To the class of 2003, we survived this place, praise the Lord. Best of luck to everyone who reads this. If there is one thing I learned, do whatever makes you happy. For me, I think I will be a plumber on 23 May 2008. Lastly, Margie, thanks for sticking with me through all the tough times here, I love you very much.

Charles-Chazz-Chuck-Uncle Charky. "agent of the man" Bell. Quite possibly the greatest hybrid striped bass fisher, snowboarder, skateboarder, golfer, rugger, former petty officer, future intelligence officer, leader of men, future US Senator and maybe one day Supreme Potentate. A legend in his own time/mind. Roomed with Jed, faced the Ac-Board and survived. Destined for greatness, few words can describe the man he is and will be, one phrase alone can summarize his existence- I wish I could tell you, but you don't have the clearance. I am walking around on deck and I see all these plebes with shaved heads, and I'm thinking, I'm thinking what's going on up in this piece. Ran his division and ship as a petty officer earned the respect and admiration of his peers and an appointment to the US Naval Academy, clearly the best decision of his life. He was a great Rugby player but accidentally slept through two years of school and blamed Weaver for it. For Rabies, the Life of the Party: Erin arrived to the Club a former cheerleader and assumed the role of Flamer. Smalley sucks and Altemus too. So who was your date to Ring Dance and why didn't I see you there? Nevermind, he was nothing compared to the upcoming Mental Block. Fighter pilots are awkward and a new name will be generated. Firstie Year brought "the Palace" and a complete lack of supervision…almost. "So what you're trying to say is…" gates are easy to slip through and Marines have no honor. It was the summer of '99…those were the best days of our lives…NOT!!! But we made the best of it—sometimes. Ever been on a 6th story ledge before?? I know someone who has. "Trier," "Bone," "TC," "hey you," "Brown," "sandblower," "Sandy," or whatever it is you go by these days—your call sign will no doubt be colorful! While we've watched a lot of our friends "EJECT EJECT EJECT," all 9 warriors from 15-1 survived—with or WITHOUT dessert!! We missed you at Herndon, but we know you were there in heart—the biggest heart of ANYONE at our estate on the Severn. "10 weeks of leave…you lucky B!#CH!!!" At least you made it to Mary's for the end-of-youngster-year festivities!!!!! Ask Trier what her favorite food on second-class surface cruise was—"Saltines & meclizine!" For anyone out there who isn't intimidated by this 5-foot-five & a half inch spark plug—ask her plebes just how scary she can be! But in the end, Trier proved that she's a softy at heart—two giant THUMBS DOWN for the yut-yuts in Quantico!! Second class year was sooo SNEAKY—at least that was supposed to be the idea. The time for being sneaky came to an end late in '02. NYC…WDW…ROAD TRIP—what a way to start firstie year!!! Not going anywhere for a while…stuck in Alabama…that's a lot of snow! Even though it rained on Herndon, the Luau & Ring Dance—the sun will be shining brightly on May 23, 2003!!! CHECK SIX!

"Have you been DRINKING?" Heart Stops "I had so much metal in my mouth I thought I had braces!" Leave my trunk button alone! Nice boots, you gonna ride off into the sunset with those? "I really wish she had been breastfeeding" says the master of uncomfortable silence. "Are you breaking up with me Jake?" "You've got nothing for me, then" "Care to explain officer?" "You guys are dangerous," it was a little windy that day. "But Jake, I don't want a Rolex." How quickly the tide can turn on those closest to us, gone but not forgotten, Mike. MIDN Cochran was a man that supported Way Points. He was a proponent of equality for female midshipman. You never had to ask Little Corky if he got laid on the weekend. He bilged us all plebe year so he could get pilot. He actually loved female midshipman and did everything he could to impress them. He even went on a 4-year diet and he gained 20 pounds. From the halls of Montezuma, to the shores of Tripoli, We fight our country's battles in the air, on land and sea. First to fight for right and freedom, and to keep our honor clean; We are proud to claim the title United States Marines. Our flags unfurled to every breeze from dawn to setting sun. We have fought in every clime and place, where we could take our gun. From the snow of far off northern lands and in sunny tropic scenes, You will find us always on the job, The United States Marines. Hears to health to you and to our Corps which we are proud to serve. This scrawny Jewish Texan came to the Naval Academy with the goal to one day "command a nuclear submarine," which he told his classmates—and detailers—on Training Day 3, and no one's ever forgotten it. When he wasn't strangling war cries, turning the eyes-in-the-boat machine on, jumping down 7th Wing garbage chutes, or leading his classmates in the J-E-T-S chant, plebe Joel could be found working on being the best nerd he could be and tutoring half of his friends as well. Youngster year, Joel became known for his fictional roommate and sending out many Practice ProQuizzes. Second class year, Joel doubled up in the arduous duties of platoon sergeant and admin chief… jobs that prepared him for the role of the 28th Company XO. Despite his encounters with drill gunnies, anti-inflammatories, pretzel rolls, and excessive sugar, Joel exemplified his role as the company "hammer," leading to his promotion to Battalion XO, where he became famous for being tackled in the first 6th Batt Spirit Night and for his always interesting sword manual. In his spare time, Joel spent all four years as a dedicated cox'n and sometimes team manager for Heavyweight Crew, becoming the only cox'n ever pulled over by the Coast Guard. He was also a group study leader for MGSP in EE and Plebe Chemistry (as a History major), a tour guide for NESA, and a pizza-eating member of the Jewish Midshipman Club.

A man of great energy and determination, Ike fought his way into the Class of 2003 after taking a brief detour at Northwestern Prep. As a plebe, Ike worked hard at earning his Stealth Midshipmen Quals when he wasn't representing as the Powerful SOW. As a youngster, Ike came ready to train and train he did, when he wasn't avoiding the wrath of the evil FID … FID - 14, Ike & Joel - 0. Ever excitable, Ike went through numerous rulers, a dust pan, several other breakable objects, and expended much of his roommate's endless patience before coming under the influence of a good woman. Between the beautiful April and Plebe Summer Detail, Ike came into his own. Ike flourished as a detailer, earning the Spork of Power with Gold Star. Ike also knew how to mix business with pleasure. When he wasn't learning engineering or some other "worthless" topic, he was studying poli sci with his congressional press secretary girlfriend and directing the course of national events. From the Ike-poof to the patented croquet move, Ike-n-poke, to the enormous SDB Windsor knot, Ike's style was uniquely his own. As a first class, Ike showed his abilities as the most judicial and innovative conduct officer in USNA history. A true and loyal friend, Ike never lets a grudge get in the way of his good heart. Whatever path he chooses, whether politics, law, or the Surface Navy, he will make himself a success.

Kevin Jordan came to 28 wearing boxers and left wearing bikini briefs.He always enjoyed hearing Isenhower's laugh and watching Holwitt get dressed.Despite being forced to switch roommates 1/C year,"Melon" bloomed while living with Sluggo and Cheeks. He finally left the dark side and lost 200 pounds on the Conklin Diet. He went on to earn an "A" in combat skills and will "kick your ass" despite giggling like a 12-year-old dungeon master. Kevin has always suffered as a pale, red headed, Native American who is also _ Russian, but it got him a free laptop.Jed never had a chance the night KJ jumped into bed with him.They spooned till dawn and still secretly long for each other."Melon" is a motley combination of Butter-Bean,Butthead,HO,and good-time whore.He proudly wore the tightest FDB's this side of 8122 and sported the gangliest fupa seen on any man to date.As an agent, Melon secretly supported the Womble regime and aided LT and Chief as a policy maker. He was an inspiration to CAT-V midshipmen everywhere."I'm gonna PUUUUUKKEEE" was his battle cry and the Wall-Walk was his move. He was a squasher of drunken strangers and made out with his pillow a lot.He loves robots almost as much as Winkle and drives a pimped out Ford Ranger that he describes as "man that thing's sweet."

Eddie "People's Court" Kennedy came to 15 after plebe summer,scared,confused and skinny.He's still mumbling about it and blames the move as why he didn't get brigade commander,but 15 was just excited to improve our average GPA and PRT scores.He spent the first year thinking that he was too cool for us,but that was before the 3304 fiasco and the nightly drunken beatings from O'toole.He fell into a deep depression when people stopped laughing at E-Sauce.Then second class year he came back out of his shell when he set a record at precomms and had to sell his "Cadillac" after owning it for 4 days, which somehow related to his cast and his ruined future as a XFL quarterback. Of course, we couldn't tell if Hammer was revived as a person because of the ADOBE or if it was all the Xenadrine and ice mochas that he began to drink.The best thing that ever happened to Ed was when he lost his cell phone.This enabled him to run the Brigade without having to exert the energy of holding up a phone.Ed's status as an overachiever really came into effect as he transitioned into first class year, where he become a mainstay at every formation, muster, and class.There has never been a man who loved seeing himself naked or pissing in things other than bathrooms more than Ed.If given a choice, Ed would put a cast on both wrists just so that he could miss appointments at Bethesda for them.

Hailing from Long Island, NY, I definitely took the long road. Going to a year of college then two years as a nuke, one at NAPS, only to suffer four more years here at Canoe U. But the road was sure fun. The life of an engineer, ah, so many vicious cycles of sleepless nights and getting drunk on the weekends. Luckily, that phase wore off. Proud to be a gEEker! Living with John during the four years here has taken years off my life but I couldn't have had a better friend and roommate. Tom you too, missed you during the second semester firstie year, but remember Pickle Pub? Summer cruises were awesome HMS Ark Royal anyone? I'll miss the "allotted" three pints of ale per day for an officer. YP's anyone? Glad THAT's over. And remember you can't spell beer without EE! Jenny-Nuff' Said.

Kevin P Ross

Submarines

Kevin Ross came to the Naval Academy with a chip on his shoulder and an "underground H-town" sticker on his math binder. He still misses Sly and "all the boys," but gets over it by doing derivatives. Jed secretly turned him in for civvies, both times. Plebe year was a blur for Kevin until Sea Trials, he made all of his current enemies and everyone saw him for who he really is, which is the reason he always got his first choice in roommates.He's the only man alive never to be wrong and attributes it to all the gymnastics he did as a kid. He enjoyed training plebes, keeping his uniform SAT and taking PRT's. He was a fan of Buddy's and they were a fan of him. He started out Sluggo and ended up hardball Kevin Paul. Kevin was a stoic, despite being bow-legged and goofy. He would make us all laugh whenever he believed that Houston had a chance to win anything. He was on many company officer's list to be kicked out, but stayed the course, insulting them. He resembled the chiefs, but had the look of a stupid plebe. Ross loved self-righteous 2/C, fat girls, Noise, offensive table manners, and submarines. KP is still to this day on a quest for a championship season he can call his own. Ross will always be around to steal PE gear from your closet, leave trash on your desk, or spill something on you or something you own. Toby was never a badass and Duff is a loser.

Jordan R Voss

Lavalle, Wisconsin
Navy Pilot

Jordon Voss is to the Academy what Winston Churchill was to Great Britain. Raised on a farm in rural Reedsburg, Wisconsin Voss toiled his youth away to become the natural leader he is today. Through the years he never took chiefs' s#%t and tutored LT's in common sense. Voss always beasted the PRT, with or without mono, and despite living on the verge of being UNSAT, he managed to be 1st Sergeant and Company Commander. He dressed up like a cowboy so he could boost the morale of the gate guards at gate 1, and the always-loving DOD police. He had no problem drawing pictures of what happened for Winks, because "Meat" could never follow. He actually did have that mustang with racing stripes, yeah the purple one, and he's still the only one of us who thinks it's cool. Jordon is also part of the team that never won anything. He was always the main event at Club Mary, whether it was dressing up like a girl, being assaulted on the dance floor by big red, or diving into a frozen pool. He never let anyone drive his car, especially Jed who often tried to steal it from Mary's. Voss is a man of secrecy though he will explain to you the particles in farts, but no one knows what he had locked up in his con locker (Ross has his theories as to why he locks his toothbrush up), but it's rumored to be the Dummies Guide to Striper Positions.

Jeremy Richard Winkle

Wilsonville, Oregon
Submarines

Winks started out the happiest midshipman at the Academy. Living in the back shaft and having most of his early roommates kicked out changed all this. "Rage" started to pay more attention to sprint football and chuggin' beers. He has taken his "championship season mentality" into the robot lab where the mixing of meat and metal came to a head when he punched Jed and made him cry like a little girl. Winkle likes to run down Main Street and is still lost in the bush. Jerry and "Rage" met sometime youngster year. It all started out when Sprint Winkle was not afraid to run up behind some random kid and drop kick him in the back at the Youngster Luau. Winkle never lived in Oregon, Kelly was from Severna Park and Robots are cool. The submarine community had better get ready for a big assed guy who loves coffee and whoopin' ass as much as he loves palm pilots and Playstation. Winkle will probably become rich, making his own line of sporting good uniforms, but he will always swing a golf club like a dying old man. He is famous for laying up on a par 3 with a driver and crying when Ginger Cove rejected his application for residency. He was always the fan that would make a t-shirt supporting everything from Ray Lewis to USA hockey. He owes his accomplishments at the Academy to the Hoggies and his disappointments to his roommates.

29 left in 29. Our journey here at the U.S. Naval Academy has definitely been an adventure, living in 3 different companies. Some of us think we have lived in an anti-real world these past four years. Plebe year we learned how to work hard and play hard. Most of us succeeded more in playing hard than the first. On 3-1…at least we got to class on time. And then came good old 29. 29 Palms. The Battle Cattle. We learned. We grew. We had a few. We may not be the best of friends, but we are a company. We may be near last in the brigade, but we are graduating.

STEP IT OUT SHIPMATES, OH RAAH 2-9!!

Did I ever have a sober night at your house? Army-Navy-from a CamelBack, to hung over the morning before, to being three hours early in the freezing cold. Good stuff. Bosnian Taxis."I'm wiry". The Phil Corollary. Late nights and 4 rolls of tape. Making a plebe cry on his birthday, "Sir, is that just the 'The Room of Pain' ". Escape from the mezzanine. Martini's, USMC Parking Signs, and hung over Proboards, this could be the start of a bad habit. How bout some Padron? The psycho and "the Book." Third wheel on Friday night dates, Mark at Griffin's, "Two Yeunglings and a water." Yeungs and Wings. Never bluffs at poker, which is what makes him such a good friend, good luck with the Corps. Huh?! What? Write a Bio?Are you Kidding?All right. How about this: I imagine that 100 years from now some kid will be rummaging around in his grandfather's attic. That kid will come across this dusty old book and happen to open to this page. I just want to say to that youngster "Go through your history books and read about a man named Joe Dirt. He truly defined a generation." Anyway, back to the present. If anyone finds a briefcase with holes drilled in it, filled with rocks, at the bottom of Narragansett Bay…it isn't mine. Special thanks to the people who got me through this place like the org, "righty," Uncle Beam, E-sauce/the #1 fan/various other hooligans, BM, DMB, ES, JG, TB, LL, MS, BA, MR, NN, JP, KN, and WR. Huh?! What? Someone else is supposed to write this bio!?! How about BR? Nope. Too busy writing checks his body can't cash. How about ER? Thanks but I'd like to limit this to 1 "y'all" SD, AL, or KD?-"Dave, you exemplify the word midshipman. You are the wind beneath our wings." Thanks guys, but I can handle it. I'm an uncompromising control fanatic anyway. Being the company tennis champion isn't easy. Too late LL, it's in the book! Remember? (For when we can't anymore) self admitted ourselves into the fort, or Frisbee while eating ice cream over at the park? What about the Brent and Dave Show? Stay tuned, we'll be back! take 'er easy. Pamela Ann Burnham

Hanover, Michigan
Surface Warfare

It started off rough, but turned out great. Pamela Burnham came into the Naval Academy not knowing what to expect, but learned rather quickly what the Naval Academy was all about. Only through prayer and guidance was Pam able to make it through the Naval Academy. James 1:2-4 was Pamela's favorite verse to get her through hard times. "Consider it pure joy, my brothers, whenever you face trials of many kinds, because you know that the testing of your faith develops perseverance. Perseverance must finish its work so that you may be mature and complete, not lacking anything." Throughout the past four years, Pam participated in many activities such as rowing on the women's crew team, singing in the Pirates of Penzance winter musical, leading Bible studies, participating in Christian ECAs, Intramurals, helping to plan the International Ball, and being the chairman of the Ring Dance Committee. She learned so much as she persevered through these activities, time in Bancroft, and the classroom. The biggest lesson she learned was that she must give her heart fully to whatever job or opportunity may come her way. The most memorable times was when Pam did her best and kept pushing ahead when she thought she could go no further.

He really did have humble beginnings with his khaki pants and Lacoste polo shirts. Perhaps we should buy some track lighting for the wardroom. For the apartment? Brilliant idea. We could cover the ceiling with track lighting. It would be soo cool. Yes, Jake, the track lights do bring out the pastel purple in your T-shirt. Take a look at this picture. Does he look anything like Nicholas Cage? I think not. Naby sure as hell thinks not. But South Africans sure do. Go figure...Those are some nice taillights. Cool gauges too. Its kind of like American History X. You know at the end when Ed Furlong says something about it being better to quote someone rather than try to come up with something new on your own. Well for my little source of inspiration I look to none other than my brother Coolio. Take it away homie: "As I walk through the valley of the shadow of death I take a look at my life And realize there's nothing left 'Cause I've been blasting and lasting so long That even my momma thinks that my mind is gone But I ain't never crossed a man that didn't deserve it be treated like a punk, you know that's unheard of You betta watch how ya talking And where ya walking Or you and your homies might be lined in chalk I really hate to trip but I gotta loc As they croak, I see myself in the pistol smoke Fool, I'm the kinda g that little homie's wanna be like On my knees in the night Saying prayers in the street light!" Heebo, Heebs...whatever. Cosine wave rider. Here's to the sequel. I doubt it'll be a trilogy. I think we can all agree you'll be #2, maybe #3 to walk under the arch of swords. She totally had you at hello. Hell man, I didn't even know you until second-class year cause you spent all your time at IU. No one else will ever understand how good it feels to wake up from an afternoon nap hoping to God you didn't just sleep through morning class. But I do. I'll remember going down to dinner with rack lines all over our faces, wiping the sleep from our eyes. But it was more than the Rack Log. 12hrs sleep/day=2yrs@USNA. It was the tequila shot and the Corona chaser at Bohagers, realizing we recognized the regulars. It was Pre-Comms after a long night at the O-Club with the Dolphin Club...Go NAVAIR. It was fighting to the death, no, to the pain. The token Heebo "haaww," the Mack Truck and the gopher. t was finally realizing that you're IKEA boy, not Tyler Durden. Jake'll be your perfect roommate, but you'll always be a member of room 8322. Do you really own five cars? Do any of them run? You're the guy the financial advisor warned us about. JP and I have one piece of advice for you. Generally, men don't wear their pants above their belly button until they get the senior discount. In the end, I just want you to hit me as hard as you can. Naby, so many things to say and only 1400 characters to express them. I'm sure anyone in the company could write volumes. Your friendship and companionship has meant so much to all of us who valued a "friend in low places." A leperchaun-like friend with a temper almost as short as himself, our adventures together will provide for hours of bar room exageration. Without you we would never had the stories of the bathroom stall in Orlando, the redhead in Norfolk, the golden shower in Albany, and the steamy sauna in London. An extra 10 pounds for her, and 50 lbs. for the redhead, and an extra two feet further to go down on wilson right? With no money, and no liberty, you were fortunate to have so many devoted friends your senior year that could give you "carry-on" in their rooms. Our squad plebe summer continues to amaze the scientific community, and that substance on your summer whites is still in the lab. Not sure what the aviation community was thinking when they picked you out of the lineup, perhaps they were after your "lucky charms." Good luck in Pensacola, remember, run the full 1.5 miles on the PRT, dont spend your full paycheck in one day, and take full advantage of your newfound freedom. WKP WSR

Hey buddy, I am sorry I can't write this in dusty lilac. I know I am not your dinosaur but I think we became pretty close through everything...Who could forget Riis and naked hugs? You'd be in trouble if printers fought back and don't worry, nobody noticed when you kept skeaking peeks of yourself in the mirror. It took four years but I think we've finally solved that whole hygiene issue and I am not even talking about your little poison ivy incident. No Nick, I don't want to "go lift" with you since that really means -- Mikey I need a spotter. Meathead, a friend like you comes around once in a blue millenium. I wouldn't be letting the bag out of the hat when I say that our time spent together has been enjoyable. From golfing, to passing the communal tin, to the Spa in London, our adventures with you will forever provide as a source of excitement and comic relief that will brighten our days long after our train has sailed. I know, as well as Locklear knows, that a Naval Officer like you will have no problem "unzipping" his potential in the years to come. I guess the aviation community will be stuck between a rock and a high place with you and Naby at the stick, but at least you'll be able to spout off some Pauli Sci up in the air. Best of luck to you in Pensacola, where I'm sure your Midstang will finally get the recognition it deserves!

He, ladies, is a professional Naval Flight Officer. Sorry, he's partial to red heads. Cuckoo Cachoo Mrs. Robinson. His life was a one in a million shot, the most challenging challenge ever. Say ello to my little fwend, Juan Pablito Randle, like a candle. Hallowed be thy name. Voted by the Class of 2003(me) most likely to be charged with an Article 134 offense and most likely to join the Chaplain Corps or the JAG Corps, or perhaps the Marine Corps. Nah. He's stripped down to the core, the bone. Skeleton Boy. I guess that makes me Major Screw. At least I get to go down on people. He loves, fights, and dreams with all his heart. He's gone down in flames more times than I can remember, but like the phoenix he rises to fight another day. His future gun collection will make a SEAL blush. His library continues to grow but the number of books he's read continues to shrink. The most inactive Lance I've met, but nice bike. He sure as hell knows how to get under your skin. Yet, without a doubt, the most faithful hetero-lifemate to stand the long blue line, black N included while supplies last. He may go Wolverine Berserker at times and threaten your life, even though you never touched the car. But he can be my WSO any day, just stay away from the ejection handles. Eternal Father, strong to save, Whose arm hath bound the restless wave,
Who bidd'st the mighty ocean deep, Its own appointed limits keep,
Oh hear us when we cry to thee, For those in peril on the sea!

Lord, guard and guide the men who fly, Through the great spaces in the sky.
Be with them always in the air, In darkening storms or sunlight fair.
Oh hear us when we lift our prayer, For those in peril in the air!

Eternal Father, grant, we pray, To all Marines, both night and day,
The courage, honor, strength, and skill, Their land to serve, thy law fulfill;
Be thou the shield forevermore, From every peril to the Corps.

Lord God, our power evermore, Whose arm doth reach the ocean floor,
Dive with our mean beneath the sea; Traverse the depths protectively.
O hear us when we pray, and keep, Them safe from peril in the deep.

As he had done at every engagement at which it had been my privilege to observe him, the king stripped and worked alongside his warriors, shirking nothing, but pausing to address individuals, calling by name those he knew, committing to memory the names and even nicknames of others heretofore unknown to him, often clapping these new mates upon the back in the manner of a comrade and friend. It was astonishing with what celerity these intimate words, spoken only to one man or two, were relayed warrior-to-warrior down the line, filling the hearts of all with courage." ~ Xeones, Gates of Fire "You are the commanders, your men will look to you and act as you do. Let no officer keep to himself or his brother officers, but circulate daylong among his men. Let them see you and see you unafraid. When there is work to do, turn your hand to it first; the men will follow. Some of you, I see, have erected tents. Strike them at once. We will all sleep as I do, in the open. Keep your men busy. If there is no work, make it up, for when soldiers have time to talk, their talk turns to fear. Action, on the other hand, produces the appetite for more action." ~ Leonidas, Gates of Fire "I was just wondering if it was possible to get any more miserable. Josh came to Annapolis from Pittsburgh and was greatly disappointed when he realized that he couldn't be commissioned as a pilot for United.At USNA he was busy getting his balls up on the volleyball team (have one), being the president of the Rod Stewart fan club, and not trying hard at getting perfect grades. Always quick to run his mouth until you physically threaten him by firstie year perfected his Livin on a prayer karaoke routine and his relationship with joe sweger.Pulled off the California look like a champ. Made the ALL spring break team all four years:4/C left Mexico with a sugarmama 3/C had an incident with an angry cheesegrater in Jamaica 2/C opted for the 10 day break after some Costa Ricans reconned all of his belongings (serves ya right for hanging out with swabbies by the way if anyone sees some Costa Rican running around with my Foxy shirt I want it back)1/C cruise cruise cruise.Roadtrip to Dayton, hanging out at the kooka boom room.When you're in the fleet watch out for mysterious pandas sneaking up on your six and ghosts may be scary but they don't bite.You're going to kill us all!You learned the hard way that going on a rampage requires some timing, but going in for some making out at the bar doesn't.You're one hell of a friend- one of your greatest fears may be letting one of your boys down, which is awesome. Balls up.

Can I get a BIG MAC? OK, maybe not so big! T-mac, meclherat, came to USNA from Seattle. High school all-star; he'll tell you how he was a total pimp, and still totally is. Coach: kick it with your laces; Mac: I can't; Keepers: Wicked shot, can't figure out how to stop it. Makes girls start fights with other girls, especially the one you're talking to. Only guy to hook up in the Cancun of the North…wait there are only guys in Whistler. We are 0-2 on landing the quarter pipe, but we both nailed the 360 fakie ass smacker. The crowd loved it. Stop abusing the hotel bathrooms. Just finished a night of debauchery and who's on the phone calling every girl he's ever met? None other than Mac D. Always likes to dance…with wolves. Where's your skateboard bud? Did you think we're gonna ollie our way into NYC's finest establishments with those shoes? Booze cruise- "hey, is that Mac's date on that other guy? Why is she topless?" From the halls of Montezuma, to the shores of Tripoli, We fight our country's battles in the air, on land and sea. First to fight for right and freedom, and to keep our honor clean; We are proud to claim the title United States Marines. Our flags unfurled to every breeze from dawn to setting sun. We have fought in every clime and place, where we could take our gun. From the snow of far off northern lands and in sunny tropic scenes, You will find us always on the job, The United States Marines. Hears to health to you and to our Corps which we are proud to serve. In many a strife we've fought for life and we've never lost our nerve. And if the Army Or the Navy ever look on heaven's scenes, they will find the streets are guarded by the United States Marines.

Mom, dad, Mike, Becca and Fizzbo - thanks for everything that you have done for me! You have always supported me no matter how crazy my ideas were. I love you and I am so lucky to have the best family. Mom and dad, I am so proud to be your daughter! Annie, we've been through thick and thin together. Four years without you would have made the Academy go by A LOT slower. I could never get enough of you and that's why I am following you to San Diego! Thanks for being so funny, easy to talk to, and caring. You always put me in a good mood, no matter how foul I feel. I'll always let you be my wing man, Goose!!! Kristin and Gianni, I can't think of 4 better reasons to go SWO. San Diego won't know what hit them when we get there! Nads, I wouldn't hve been happier to be a bridesmaid in anyone else's wedding! You are so fun and I'll miss you so much! Lyne and Adam, you're selflessness was amazing. I could never thank you enough for being my home away from home. Thanks for treating me like I was your own! Caroline, Maura and Katherine - you girls are my friends from Beantown whom I missed so much when I was at school! It was always great to be able to party it up when I came home! No matter the distance, we'll always pick up where we left off! WWork hard, play hard and remember - everything happens for a reason! God bless and God speed. -LP

Delayed Graduation

August 15, 2003

On a bright summer afternoon the Class of 2003 delayed graduates celebrated a much anticipated event. In a brief but poignant ceremony the graduates were commissioned into the Marine Corps and Naval service. To the heartfelt sound of applause from friends and family members, the graduates crossed the stage to receive their much vaunted diplomas. The simple blue covered diploma was the greatest physical indication of four years of hardship and struggle - successfully endured and completed. The newly commissioned ensigns and second lieutenants closed this chapter in their life today, marking a milestone in their young lives. The future for these young men and women is bright with potential as they embark on a journey of service.

Sometimes just a few words say it all. And our service guarantee, attached to every system or component that leaves USFilter's Electrocatalytic factory, does just that. Our products are the most reliable of their kind, but as with any technology, some will need service. And we'll be there.

A worldwide service network just a phone call away. USFilter's Electrocatalytic products and systems are backed by a worldwide organization of forty-five representative agents. Repairs can be made anywhere in the world, often in 24 hours. On-site installation, after-sale training and technical assistance for the life of the system are just a few of the benefits of our comprehensive program. So, for complete service of electrochemical systems for sea water and fresh water environments, contact USFilter's Electrocatalytic Products office at:

Overview

The 2003 Lucky Bag is the 110th edition of this annual. It is the sixth edition to be produced completely digitally. It was made by the members of the Brigade of Midshipmen, for Vice Midshipman. It was printed in Texas by the Taylor Publishing Company of Dallas. Our representitive was Julia Jordan of Baltimore, Maryland. Our production manager at Taylor was Tami McConnell.

The Lucky Bag is 1008-pages, comprised of two volumes, and is presently the largest yearbook made by Taylor. It has a press run of 4500 copies. Each Lucky Bag was bundled with one DVD. Members of the class of 2003 were given a directory book containing formal pictures and contact information of all members in the class. Books are sold for $70 and the DVD is sold for $15.

Printing

The Lucky Bag was printed at 155 LPI on premium 100 lb matte paper.

Typography

The opening section of the book used Edwardin Scripts for the headlines and Times New Roman for the body and captions. The brigade section also used Edwardian Scripts for the headlines, Helvetica and Times New Roman for the captions. The ECA section used Big Caslon for all headings, body, and captions. The year section used Apple Chancery for the headings and Times New Roman for the body.

Photography

Formal portraits were taken by Davor Studios of Bensalem, Pennsylvania. Our Davor representative was James Rainey. Davor supplied film and camera equipment. Primarily, Fujicolor Supera 100, 200, 400, 800, and 1600 speed film was used. The Lucky Bag maintained a cache of lenses and camera bodies to include Cannon EOS-1v HS, Cannon EOS Elan 7E's, Nikon N70's, and Nikon N90's. Our lenses included Cannon EF 17-35mm and 28-135mm f/3.5-5.6 IS USM and Nikon Kens 80-200mm. All film was developed and scanned into 17 MB TIFF image files and placed on CD-ROM.

Computers

The Lucky Bag office contains eight Apple Mac computers. Four are Power Mac G4 Dual 500 Mhz models with 256 MB of RAM, 40 GBs of hard drive space and a CD-R drive. One is a Power Mac 750 Mhz model with 256 MB of RAM, 40 GBs of hard drive space and a CD-R drive. One is a Power Mac G4 running at 733 Mhz with 768 MB of RAM and two 60 GB hard drives. This computer also contains the Apple Superdrive, which is capable of recording DVD-Rs. These computers were connected to ViewSonic PT813 21" Monitors. Three computers utilized Wacom Intous 6x8 drawing tablet. The backbone of the office is a Power Mac G4 server running Appleshare IP v6.3. This computer has two 40 GB SCSI hard drives which contain all the files and pictures used to create this book. Finally, the Lucky Bag office contains a Powerbook G3 computer for clerical work and presentations. Work is backed up by a Western Digital 120 GB external hard drive.

Scanning of photos submitted by the Brigade was done on a variety of scanners. These included UMAX PowerLook II, PowerLook III, and PowerLook 1100 models.

Software

All our Apple Power Mac computers run OS X or OS 9. Raster images were edited using Adobe Photoshop 6.0 and 7.0 and many times image intensive and effect driven spreads were initially created in Photoshop. Composites from Photoshop were saved in Encapsulated Postscript format (EPS) with vector data retained. These EPS images were placed in Adobe InDesign 2.0. Text and other elements were added as needed. They were packaged and shipped by FedEx to Taylor for processing.

Advertisements

Commercial advertisements were obtained through Titan Publishing of Severna Park, Maryland. Parent advertisements were solicited by the Lucky Bag.

DISCLAIMER

All opinions expressed in this book are those of their authors. Thy are not intended to represent the official policies of the Brigade of Midshipmen, the United States Naval Academy, or the United States Navy.

My Final Words

So, I'm sitting here, starring at the monitor, trying to figure out what to write so I can leave the office before rush hour traffic. I have the 2001 and 2002 Lucky Bags opened for guidance, but for some reason, I am just not feeling the exceptional joy that seemed to over come both Bennett and John at this point in their yearbook experiences. I can't help looking back over the past three months, or even the past year and wishing that I had done things differently. And I am not talking about layouts or the design. The 2003 Lucky Bag looks good; it looks damn good. I am referring to my complete lack of assertiveness --my inability to say it like it is, to tell someone working under me, that they are not doing their job. This personality defect affected not only my reign as Lucky Bag Editor, but also my time as Softball Captain. There are still a few things I wish I would have said to one particular #$*&! on the team. I've told myself that it has been so hard for me because I've been working with my peers and in most cases, my friends. But right now I am wondering if that is the root of my problem or just an excuse. The more I stare at this blinking cursor, the more I think the latter.

Okay, so if you are one of the five people who actually took the time to read my ramblings, you're probably a little pissed off or annoyed that I am wasting your time writing about my own faults. You were probably expecting me to talk about how glad I am that I am done, maybe a few funny stories that happened this summer, or just anything up-beat to amuse you. Well, too bad. I spent the great part of my weekdays AND weekend making sure this book was as visually appealing and technically accurate as possible so that you may have something to look back and smile about. I am using this last pages as a little bit of therapy for myself. And maybe by putting this all in print, I will force myself to do what I haven't been able to do during my four year stay at USNA and become the leader I should have been on graduation.

There are many people who need to be thanked for all their help with this year's book.

Lastly, my staff. . .

Chris W: I don't think I could have made it through this summer without you. Your work ethic, dedication, comedy and friendship have meant more to me that you could possible know. In more than one occasion you stepped up do to the unpleasant tasks that I could not bring myself to do. I hope some day that I will be able to be as good of a friend to you as you have been to me.

Stina: Thank you being my friend, roommate and co-worker. You have always been there for me whether I was stressed out or drunk. When I needed LB help, you were there, and made me two beautiful sections. I hope we stay in touch no matter where we end up in the world.

Adam: Thank you so much for offering yourself up to be B.M. Most people would have complained constantly and not done half the job that you did. Your witty gayish humor cheered me up and calmed me down on many occasions. :)

David: Thank goodness for that compsci project. I know you could have done more relaxing things for your TAD, but you chose to help me. You picked up everything so fast, I think you know the workings of the Lucky Bag better than me. Best of luck to you and please keep in touch. ps - I still have your wings.

Matty Roy: There was no better way to end a long day at the office to hop on the back of your bike and go for a ride. Those trips to cheers helped keep me sane. Thank you so much for taking up the duties of B.M. I always knew with you in charge, I didn't have to worry.

Ford: I know this wasn't the easiest job for you to take on. But your meticulous attention to detail has made a great deal of difference in this book and is just as important as the designs and the layouts. And I think the History is one of the best sections. See ya in p-cola!

Chris M.: You are a master of Photoshop. I have no idea how you managed to finish all those spreads, on top of making them looking fabulous. I can't wait to meet back up with u in p-cola and hit up some punk rock shows. Thanks for everything.

Jason: To think, only three years ago you were stalking me in physics class. At that point, I bet you never guess that 3 yrs later, you'd be typing every underclass' name out with me. You've been such good help this summer. Please keep in touch, or I might be forced to start staling YOU.

Scot: You were barely here, but some how you managed to take care of a difficult section for me. With you and Collier working together, I know next year's book is going to be awesome.

Coop: We made it through the year without killing one another and we actually got along a few times; Amazing. Thanks for the great pictures and the help.

Danny: Somehow, whenever I had a big project to do, you were there to help. I could always count on you to brighten my day. Have fun this year and don't borrow the projector. :)

Collier C. Crouch: I know you have it in you to make an exceptional yearbook. Stay focused and on top of things. If you have any questions, call me, no matter what time it is .. or even if you don't have questions. Thank you for all the support you have given me. You were all ways there when I need someone to talk to. I am sorry I wasn't able to hook you up with stina.

"What's that feeling when you're driving away from people and their specks disperse on the road? It's the too-huge world vaulting us, and it's good bye. But we lean forward to the next crazy venture beneath the skies"
-Jack Keroac, On the Road
